

Moving Forward with Global Citizenship

2 part funded CLPL for all teachers

The Global Learning Programme Scotland is a national project funded by UK government which supports schools to embed Global Citizenship into their learning and teaching across the curriculum. 'Moving forward with Global Citizenship' is a full day training opportunity for teachers at all levels. It will bring together all the strands of Global Citizenship including Rights as a core part of Learning for Sustainability. It offers a professional reflection element which will support teachers' GTCS professional update.

Part 1 of the course is over a full day on May 27 2014. Following this there is an expectation that staff attending will take forward some ideas generated at the training. There will be a recall day in October 2014 for staff to share their experiences and develop their learning further.

Moving Forward with Global Citizenship

The course will:

- develop teachers' common understanding of the key elements of Global Citizenship;
- enhance teachers' learning and teaching practice for Global Citizenship;
- build teachers' confidence to plan for Global Citizenship;
- support teachers' professional dialogue skills.

During the course we will:

- explore our shared understanding of Global Citizenship & UNCRC;
- look at frameworks to support progression & planning for global citizenship;
- explore active methodologies that develop critical thinking;
- consider some examples of themes with strong global citizenship elements;
- investigate some methods of assessing attitudinal change;
- reflect on our own and our pupils' learning;
- consider a wide range of resources.

Before the CLPL workshop participants will be asked to complete a short teacher baseline questionnaire and work with a member of the school's SMT to carry out a simple Global Citizenship audit.
