

Dear Head Teacher,

Scottish SPCA logo design competition

As highlighted by Gilly Mendes Ferreira, Head of Education and Policy, we are in the process of launching our new Animal Guardians programme which aims to break the cycle of cruelty and harm towards animals and people through promoting positive human-animal interactions with children.

Please find attached your school's invitation to participate in a unique design competition being held by the Scottish SPCA. We are inviting primary school aged children across Scotland to help us design a logo for our new Animal Guardians programme. The lucky winner will receive a goody bag for their school amongst other prizes.

We would love for your school to be involved in this competition and hope it will raise awareness of the up and coming bespoke new programme and continue engaging children with the Scottish SPCA.

Please find attached the terms and conditions for your teachers' information and the poster to be displayed within your school.

With thanks and warm wishes,

Susan
