

First Minister for a Day Financial Plan

The First Minister has chosen you to take charge for a day!

For one day, you get to decide how to spend a budget of £10 000 of public money.

You must create a financial plan, which shows:

- what or who you are spending your money on
- how much money each item costs
- why you are spending money on that item
- how much money is left over

The First Minister has many roles and responsibilities. Many communities, charities, companies, councils and workers could all justify why they deserve some extra money. The First Minister must not overspend money from the public purse!

What will you do with the money? Who will you help?
