

As promised, here are some maths and numeracy websites which might be of use for you to use at home with your child. We hope you find these useful.

Maths and Numeracy Websites

www.topmarks.co.uk (Learning Games - Maths)

www.snappymaths.com

<http://78.141.43.195/mrcrammond/> (Maths)

www.mathsisfun.com

www.crickweb.co.uk

<http://www.doorwayonline.org.uk/number/>

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/ks1/maths/>

<http://www.ictgames.com/resources.html> (Maths)

<https://education.gov.scot/parentzone/Documents/>

<http://www.readwritecount.scot/>

<https://nrich.maths.org/>

Parentzone, has lots of advice on how to support your child at home with their learning. There is a resource on this website called "I am a Mathematician" which can be used with your child.

<https://education.gov.scot/parentzone/.../IAmAMathematician>