Like many they have adapted their provision, and this will now include a YouTube Channel. Dumfries and Galloway Science/STEM Festival "Today our new vlog series DGSTEMTV launches it's first episode on it's YouTube channel to assist home STEM schooling or simply to help kids do fun things. It's made for our families with children aged about six to twelve who can watch it together and is based in Dumfries and Galloway. Episode 1 is about propulsion and the links between DG and space science. Our presenter Stephen is out-and-about making fizzy rockets and learning about DG's very own scientific genius James Clerk Maxwell. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lqwyzF0nmkQ

		Thank you and Well Done to those who have already emailed me their stories. I have loved reading them!	Families interested in having a go at the activities in this episode can join the online SLACK support community that accompanies this series. There they will find helpful chat with the DGSTEMTV crew and meet other families. There is also activity instructions, more ideas, competitions and video calls. Please email jenny.dgsf@gmail.com for an invite link to join the group."
