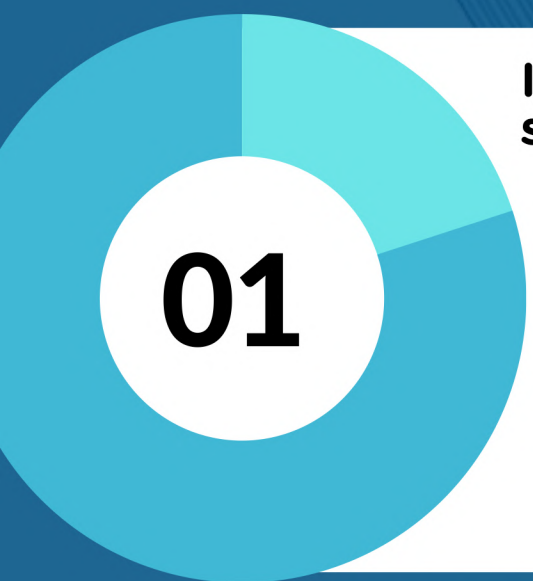
ENQUIRE

Resources for professionals

Enquire, in partnership with Falkirk Council, have developed five online learning modules to help you with some of the key laws and guidance governing additional support for learning in Scotland.

Our modules offer an in-depth look at key additional support for learning topics as well as an opportunity to reflect on your own practices. Each module takes 15-30 minutes to complete.

5 Learning Modules



Identifying learners' additional support needs

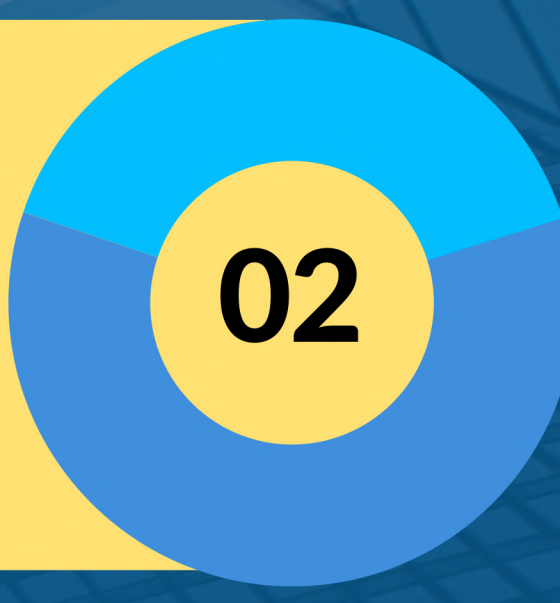
This module explores:

- what we mean by additional support for learning
- why children and young people may need additional support
- how to identify the needs of the children and young people you work with.

Meeting learners' support needs

This module explores:

- your responsibilities to provide additional support for learning
- different types of support learners might receive
- who might be involved in providing support
- your responsibilities to support learners' wellbeing.



Planning and reviewing learners' support

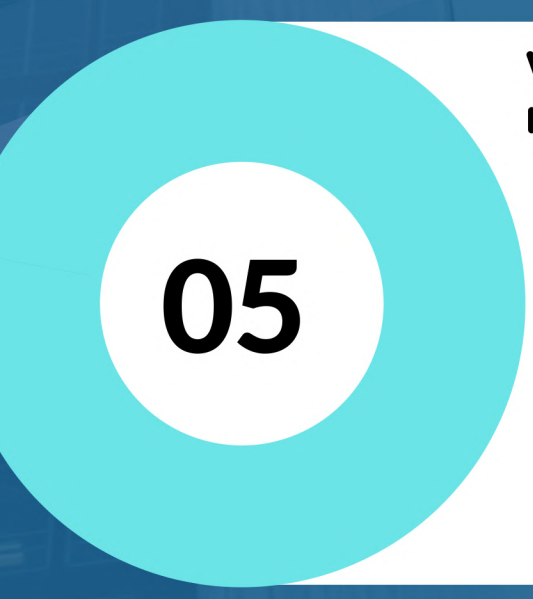
This module explores:

- your responsibilities to plan and review learners' support
- the planning cycle
- the types of plans used for support for learning
- how local authorities plan to meet the needs of their learners.

Supporting disabled learners

This module explores:

- your legal responsibilities to support disabled children and young people
- examples of reasonable adjustments you can make for disabled learners.



Working with families to provide the right support

This module explores:

- children and young people's legal rights to be involved in decisions about their support for learning
- parents' and carers' legal rights to be involved in decisions about their child's support
- how to build positive communication and relationships with children and young people and their families.

For more information and advice for professionals in Scotland, visit:

www.enquire.org.uk/professionals