For twenty-five years, day by day, You've guided children on their way. With patience, kindness, heart, and cheer, You've shaped young minds year after year.

Through ABCs and 1-2-3s, Through painted hands and muddy knees, You've helped them grow, you've helped us shine, With steady hands and love divine.

A whisper here, a helping hand, A gentle nudge to help us stand. You've dried our tears, you've calmed our fears, You've cheered us on through all these years.

The lives you've touched, the smiles you've sparked, The countless journeys you've helped embark— Each child you've taught, each heart you've warmed, Is proof of love that you've adorned.

So here's to you—so wise, so true— A hero in the things you do. For twenty-five years, you've been the light, A guiding star so warm and bright.

> Thank you for the love you share, For every moment, every care. May joy return a hundredfold, For all the kindness you've unrolled.

> > To our one and only Mrs H!
