

Loanhead Stay at Home Heroes

The Big Problem

“The big problem can’t be solved with super strength or super speed. The big problem will only stop growing if all the new Superheroes use their Stay at Home Superpowers, to stay at home. In fact, if all the new Stay at Home Superheroes work together the big problem will get smaller and smaller and smaller every day until it goes away.” explained the teacher to Patrick and Penny.

“But staying at home is a boring superpower!” grumped Patrick and Penny together.

“Boring? No way! You have the superpower to make it fun! And staying home is how YOU can save the whole world—there is nothing more powerful than that!”

Just staying home and having fun could save the whole world? And they would be real-life superheroes? The children began to get excited! Penny and Patrick looked at each other and began to feel powerful too! They couldn’t wait to get started and tell all of their friends and family that they could turn into Stay at Home Superheroes.

When the children got home they got to work quickly, using their Superhero creativity to think of all of the fun things they could do at home. Together they made a long list with their dad to put on the fridge so that mum could see it when she got home from work. Pillow forts, cooking, games, dancing, music, puppet shows, singing together, movies and many, many more! Even better they found out that they could still go out into the garden to play and go for a walk as long as they stayed away from all the superheroes who lived in different houses. They could wink and wave to each other.

Penny and Patrick did miss playing with their friends and going swimming and going to the park. But they always remembered how important his new Superhero job was. They were helping to save the whole world and that made them feel good inside. They were very proud of themselves! Then they fired up those superpowers ready to find something fun to do. Penny read her school book and answered her questions while Patrick was on the computer doing sums then they both went to help mum make the lunch.

Patrick and Penny and all of their Stay at Home Superhero friends from school worked hard together to help save the world, all without leaving their house. And now you can be a Superhero too!
