

Storygram

Lilly was a ladybird. She was the smallest creature living on Marigold Farm but she was also the bravest. With her bright red wings and six short black legs, she could travel to any corner of the farm and her small black head knew everything that was going on. Nothing got past this seven-spotted spy!