Newly Registered Childminder Statements

“Childminding as a career is fun, there is flexibility which fits in with my family. I like meeting people and building relationships with the children and their families. There is a lot of variety, I like to be out and about, a desk job no longer suited me. I am my own boss and being based at home has benefited by family.”

“It’s a massive impact playing an important role model in a child’s life and quickly learn that children’s needs are high and demanding.

That their welfare is absolute priority and that a childminder can and will advocate for that child if needed childminding is demanding fun but serious.”
