How to get free sanitary products

Since October 2018, as part of the council's commitment to addressing poverty and inequalities across East Ayrshire we've been using Scottish Government funding to provide free period products in the community and in our schools.

MORE INFO

Where can I collect free products?

Free sanitary products have been available in all schools in East Ayrshire since 2018, and they've also been in over 50 community premises since July 2019.

You also can pick up what you need in community centres, libraries, sports and leisure centres, and a number of GP practices.

PickUpMyPeriod app

You can check where products are available using the PickUpMyPeriod App. Simply download the app from your appstore on Iphone or Android and enter your postcode or location to find out where free period products are available in your area.

By post

Since August 2020 we've also provided a direct postal service through our on-line ordering facility in partnership with award winning social enterprise Hey Girls, supplying a wide range of products, including reusable products, which are plastic free, organic, and sustainable.
