Are you worried about the behaviour of a young child you care for?

You may be entitled to join in our new online Psychology of Parenting Project

"Parent psychology programme helps over 5,000 families"

Aimed at families with 2 - 8 years old the Psychology of Parenting Programme guides parents to develop strong relationships with their child and helps them support their child's development and resilience.

81% of children involved have demonstrated an improvement in behaviour by the time their parents have completed the programme.
