Class Assemblies

10 December 2015 Human Rights Day

P3a told the school about Human Rights Day. They told us about the right we have to education, play, food and water. They sang a great song called 'We have Rights.' We learned that long ago girls didn't have to go to school. They had to stay home and cook, clean and knit – we're glad that changed.

Article 24: All children have the right to clean water, food and medicine.

P1a informed us of the importance of clean water through the story of Anita from Ghana. A village water well can change the lives of many children as they can go to school and not have to walk miles daily to collect water in a bucket.

Refugees: We collected an overwhelming amount of baby food, candles torches and batteries, which were used to help refugees who were forced to leave their homes.

Article 27: Children have the right to a good standard of living.

Malawi: Miss Stead went to Malawi with pupils from St Luke's. They took our collection from the Inclusion Service which was used to help the children in school.

Article 28: All children have the right to education.

Donna from Water Aid visited an assembly and informed us of the incredible work Water Aid are doing building wells in numerous countries. We had the opportunity to see the 'dirty' water that is found in villages. We donated £122.35 from our Spring Service, which will go a long way to help these children have their right to clean, safe water.

Article 24: All children have the right to clean water, food and medicine.

UNICEF 'Day of Change' P4-7 supported this day by collecting loose change from around their homes, they managed to find £65.40.
