Today we are going to think about symmetry. You may have noticed butterflies fluttering about when you've been out walking or in your garden. If you look closely at their wings you'll see they are the same on both sides. It's like looking in a mirror. You can get an adult to help you with the outline and cutting if you need to then you can try making both sides of your butterfly exactly the same

You can use things you have in your house or garden, pens or pencils, or if you want to get nice and messy use the paint blob video to help you!

You can also have a go at the symmetry game on Topmarks

Have fun and see how many symmetrical things you can find....
