

The Glad Game

Charlotte Tennant, Feb. 21

A long time ago I watched a film called 'Pollyanna'

This game featured in the film. The game consists of finding something to be glad about in every situation, no matter how bleak it may be.

I will start us off. "I'm glad for family", "I'm glad for kind people", "I'm glad when the children at Hazeldene ask if I'm a child".

Glad Game

- Choose a time when you and your family can think of something that makes you feel glad about something. Or happy! Glad may be a tricky concept for your child to understand.
- You may want to play this game once a week, every day or when the mood takes you.
- Invite your child to draw some pictures, copy the words, or you could scribe it for them.

Experiences and Outcomes

- *I am aware of and able to express my feelings and am developing the ability to talk about them. HWB 0-01a
- I enjoy exploring events and characters in stories and other texts and I use what I learn to invent my own, sharing these with others in imaginative ways LIT 0-09b/LIT 0-31a.

Memories from the film

Pollyanna went into a community that was quite bleak, but she made everyone happy when they realised how special she was. This is when it made an impact and the whole town loved her.

I have experienced the vastness of the sky, and can recognise the sun, moon and stars and link them to daily patterns of life

Exploring properties of light

White light is a mixture of colours – a spectrum. Red, Orange, Yellow, Green, Blue, Indigo and Violet are the colours in the spectrum.

When light passes through a prism the light bends. As a result, the different colours that make up white light become separated. This happens because each colour has a particular wavelength and each wavelength bends at a different angle.

Crystal prisms.

Put your memories in a tin

As a family write or draw to record some of your favourite memories and put them in a biscuit tin. When the moment feels right, open the tin and read each other's. "Sometimes you will not know the true meaning of a moment until it becomes a memory!"

I hope you get to see Pollyanna. All the pictures are clues..
