

Dear reference group members,

We're really pleased to be able to say that our consultation on our draft framework for Out of School Care in Scotland is now live. The consultation period starts today and will run until the 6th December 2019. <https://consult.gov.scot/children-and-families/out-of-school-care>

We would like to offer a huge thank you to you all for your valuable input and your support in co-producing this document. We look forward to receiving your responses to the consultation and to continuing to work with you as a group over the coming months as we complete our consultation and move forward with considering our future policy development and publication of a framework by the end of this parliamentary term.

Please circulate this draft framework consultation as extensively as you can. <https://twitter.com/ScotGovEdu/status/1167365099306328070> We are in the process of arranging a number of face to face consultation events to complement the online consultation working again with children, with parents and carers and with the out of school care sector.

If you would like to speak to us about a possible event or how we can tie in with any upcoming conferences or other planned events, please let us know.

With many thanks again,
Kate
