Dear Primary 7c Parent/Carer,

As part of their Health and Wellbeing lessons P7c have been exploring positivity. They have designed posters and passed them round the class for everyone to provide a positive comment to their peers. During their Movie Maker day on Monday they were also learning about camera angles and shots with a focus on close ups.

To conclude these two aspects of their learning, the class are going to be watching extended clips from the film Yes Day, which is based on the book by Amy Krouse Rosenthal.

The film is a PG and as such we are required to have consent from parents/carers before children are allowed to watch it. You can find out more about the rating of the film on the BBFC website at the link below:
