

Police Scotland Discover YOUR Journey

Women Only Event

Scotland is an increasingly diverse country and Police Scotland want to represent this change.

Police Scotland is running one day events aimed at encouraging you to 'Discover your Journey' towards considering a career in policing. The courses are designed to provide an insight into the role of a police officer/special constable. Women are currently under-represented in the Police and it is hoped the event will inspire you to consider a career in policing.

During the day you will hear from serving officers about their personal journey before and during their career in Police Scotland, receive inputs from specialist departments, speak to police officers and learn about the recruitment process.

The dates are:
