Dear Parent/Carer

World Book Day

Thursday March 1 is World Book Day and children and teachers have been planning a variety of exciting reading activities in class to celebrate the day.

A few parents have asked whether children should be dressed up on Thursday. Although we would not turn away a child who has the urge to dress as their favourite fictional character on the day, this is not something that we will be actively promoting this year.

Rather, we would encourage you to send in any doubles or any old favourite books that are still in very good condition, so that the children might organise a book swap in class.

Thank you for your support

Yours sincerely

Alasdair McDonald
