

The Book of Hopes - Edited by Katherine Rundell

Read a selection of extracts from the Amazing Machines section of the book (p263 - 274) and choose one or two follow up activities from the list below. You can choose which extracts to read. Share your work with us on Seesaw.

Follow up activity for Jeddi's Attic by Aisha Bushby

In this story the main character finds a way to time travel. Where would you like to travel to? Write a story about it or make a list of all the things you would do in your chosen time. Illustrate your story or list and share it with us on Seesaw.

Follow up activities for The Washing Machine That Went to the Moon by David Solomons

Who would you take to the moon with you? Write some sentences to describe what you would do and what you would take with you for such a long journey. You could also draw and label the machine that would take you to the lunar landscape.

Follow up activity for The Hope Machine by Sam Copeland

In this story The Deadly Pencil tells us that there are many superheroes and they all hang out together. Draw yourself with your gang of superhero friends. Give them (and yourself) superhero names and describe your powers. Write some sentences to tell us about the adventures you would have.
