We are not expecting you to complete all of these! One or two a day is enough! I have given you lots of options as everyone has access to different outdoor space so choose the ones you like best and are able to complete. Maybe you could even create a challenge of your own? Speed tables: You don't need to complete every column at the one time. Maybe you could time yourself to see how long it takes to complete each column? Have a rest in between and see what your personal best is? |

Try to add in some connectives and interesting adjectives and speak clearly and confidently. You could practise in a mirror before you hit record! Reading: Read chapter 14 of Fantastic Mr Fox. Remember you can ask someone to read this to you. |

See the activity posted on Seesaw to help you with this. |

Health and wellbeing

Give a compliment
Doing something nice for others is a great way to feel good about yourself. Can you give someone a compliment? Maybe you could tell your mum or dad that they are an excellent cook, for example.

Skills Development

Vacuuming
Help your adult to vacuum or sweep the floors this week. Ask which area of the house you could help with. Maybe your bedroom?
