

Primary 1-3 Class:

The last week of term is upon us! What a busy term it has been! We will begin this week's blog with our last swimming session! Here's Cammy getting into his stride with all his little charges! They have had a great few weeks. What a shame this can't be a weekly slot.... We would have some champion swimmers, I think!

There's a few flying fish around the pool this week, too!

Rowan, Cooper and Logan are giving their jumps their best shot!

I hardly recognised you boys!

Here's Robert who is working in the large pool today... George and Darcey are both working on their swimming stroke!

There was also time for a bit of fun at the end of the session. I think we've all had a great time!

Worker of the term!

Meet our new Worker of the Term for term three!

Rowan has been working very hard both in class and at home – particularly at his Maths.

Rowan tells me he likes Maths very much indeed and is growing in confidence! He is also working on his multiplication tables and gaining awards here too!

I am delighted with Rowan's attitude to work and his ability to give things a try!

Well done Rowan – I hope you like your little gift!

More Awards!

They seem to be coming thick and fast this week! George tried his mixed tables before 9.00am achieving a bronze award.... But by lunchtime decided another go was in order! This time it was Gold! Well done George! And look who's on the times table trail already – it's Logan! He achieved his ten times table – fabulous work!

Well done to both boys.... It's great to hand out awards, isn't it?

Literacy:

We have completed our little books about antonyms – and I think they look rather good! They are going into our profiles so they can be viewed in months or years to come!

Here we have Darcey, George, Autumn and Elsie; then Cooper, Brooke and Rowan! Zoe was absent on the day of pictures...

Not to be outdone, Primary One also made a little board of antonyms! Then they got busy working with Obb and Bob before making words using the letter cups! Well done everyone!

Easter Cards!

We began this little task earlier in the week! We love all the new life that we can see around us at this time of year! We are making some pop-up chicks for our cards this year!

...and here's the surprise! Darcey and Phoenix have their chicks popping up already! Our cards are ready for despatch!

What about these as little gifts? We have made some Easter Bunnies and given them some eggs to take care of! Here we are busy making them...

Our Easter Bunnies are ready... I wonder who the lucky recipients will be?

Sharing:

Keen to share with us this week are Autumn and Phoenix! Autumn found this very interesting item when she was out on a walk. Nobody knows what it is – but it is certainly very interesting! I've posted on Seesaw just to see if anyone else knows anything! Phoenix has a super book about dinosaurs that he got from the library along with a very interesting shell covered in barnacles!

NB Kerry got back to me with this picture. She has been doing a bit of research on Autumn's behalf! She says "the closest I'm getting is Norwegian Army. My dad says crown possibly looks Scandinavian and the bayonets are definitely military....." Many thanks Kerry! It just goes to show – you never know unless you ask around!

Any further information gratefully received! What an interesting find!

Floorbook!

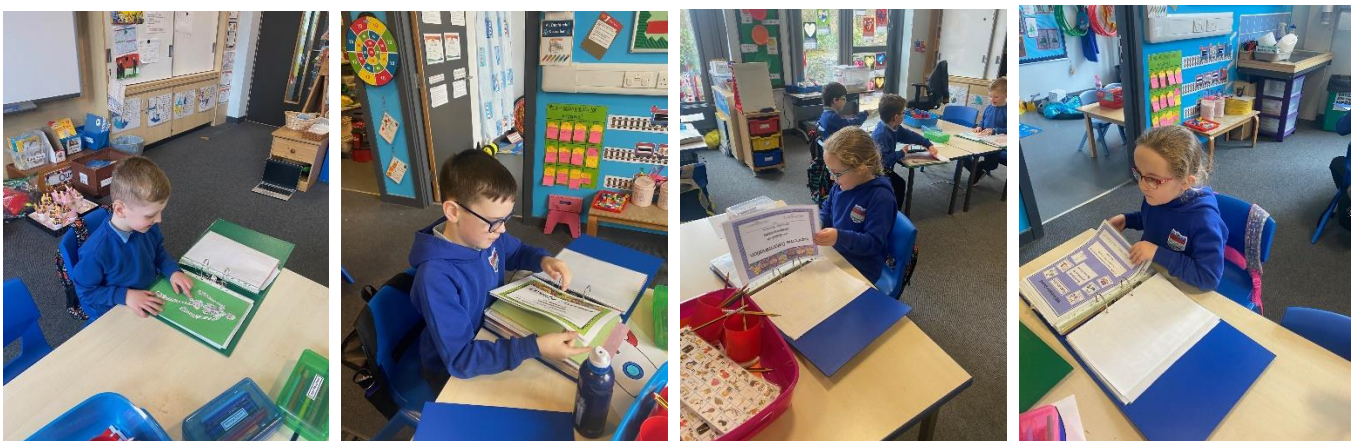

I just love this picture!

Four Primary Two children are keeping an eye on our learning via the floorbook!

It was lovely to see them reminiscing about different activities they have completed over the course of the year!

A look at our profiles!

It's long overdue – but we got our class profiles out and spent a lovely time looking through them. First our own and then we enjoyed some sharing time! I'm rather annoyed with myself that we haven't done this much more often!

Isn't it lovely when we suddenly remember an award we received or a piece of work we completed way back in the day...

I must say it's lovely to share these moments with all the children! More of this please, Mrs. Mackinnon!

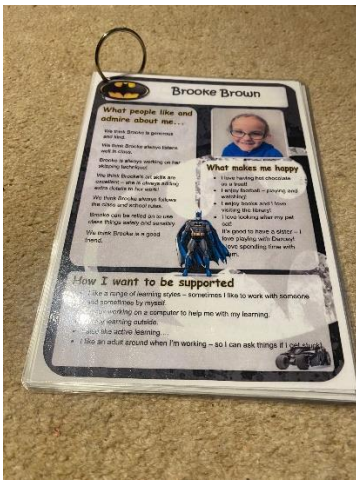

Well done everyone – there was some lovely sharing!

I will do my best for another go early on next term!

One Page Profiles!

You will be delighted (and I suspect relieved) that we have completed our one-page profiles in class. This week we gathered all the information needed to put our profile together.

I was assisted most ably by Eilidh (SFLA) and Donald from Secondary... All the information has now been collated and profiles are now in the front of our class profile folder. There is a small copy at the front of our classroom too!

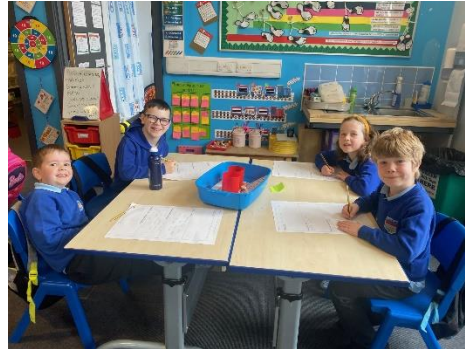

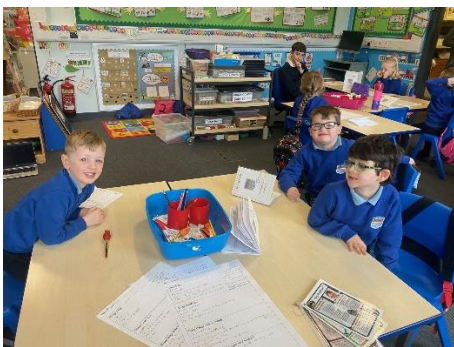

This is the type of format we each have. The children have decided on their own background.

There is useful information including things like how we like to be supported in class.

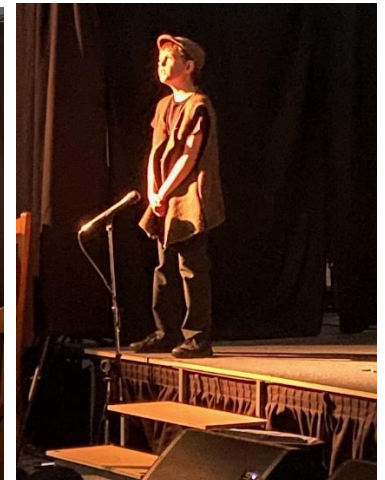

Thank you, Brooke, for agreeing to your work being shared on the blog!

The rest of us are pictured on an information gathering exercise!

Dileab 2024:

We were invited to the dress rehearsal of the Dileab Concert which was held this week! I was amazed at just how much work had gone into this super performance and I took a few photos of the children working on the production. It's a "well done" from me! I got the gist of things and thought it was great!

...and finally...

We have reached our final day in school! It's been a rather manic last couple of weeks – but now it's time to switch off for a while.

I know some of you are going away and some, like Mrs. Mackinnon, will be around for most of the holidays! I'm hearing lots about Easter eggs already!

....speaking of Easter...

I was delighted to receive this lovely handmade basket from Zoe who has been busy at home! I love something made children, so I will put it on my mantelpiece at home Zoe – many thanks for thinking of me!

....And right at the end of school – Logan appears with a lovely little egg!
Thank you so very much!

One more little surprise came from Mr. Mackinnon!

He must know I like an Easter egg too! This one is dark chocolate with chopped almonds inside!

Bless.....What a lovely thought!

*Have a fabulous holiday everyone – more of the same in a couple of weeks!
I'm looking forward to all your news already!*
