

P1-4 Class Blog:

Welcome to another blog page from P1-4! It's another short week this week, but we have been as busy as ever!

We welcomed a visitor into class at the end of last week.... Jana, our librarian paid us a visit! She wanted to see all the fantastic work we have been doing recently!

The children love a visitor – and before long, Jana had a little group around her showing off all our lovely work! It was great to see her!

De Tha Dol:

It's that time of year again! Our De Tha Dol competition has got under way in P1-4. The children are busy working on their entries. Of course we are hoping one of our children has their entry on the front cover of the Christmas edition, but who knows? We can only do our best!

Awards!

It's another award for Elsie!

This time she has nailed her mixed bag of tables – 2,3,4,5,6,7 and 10 times tables! That is just excellent news, isn't it?

I have a feeling Elsie is aiming to have all her tables completed by the Christmas holidays....

Do you think she will manage it?

I think it's a fantastic challenge!

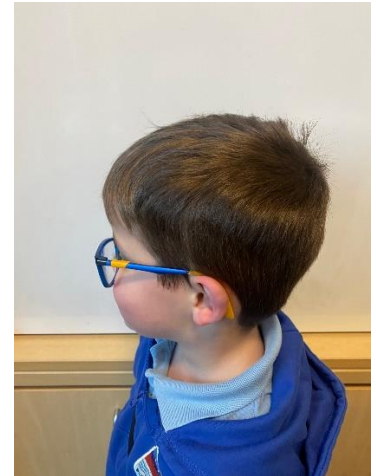

New Glasses:

Now here's someone looking very pleased with himself!

It's Logan of course! Here he is wearing a super pair of new glasses!

They really do suit you Logan – I'm so glad you have shown them off to us!

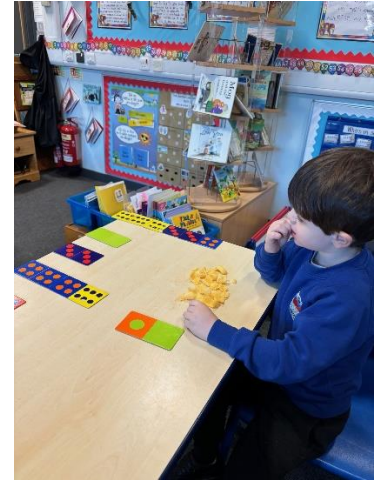

Origami Envelopes!

We joined the Gaelic class this week to make some origami envelopes! We still have to decide what type of festive message is going to go inside them. We always enjoy making them at this time of year – and this year is no exception!

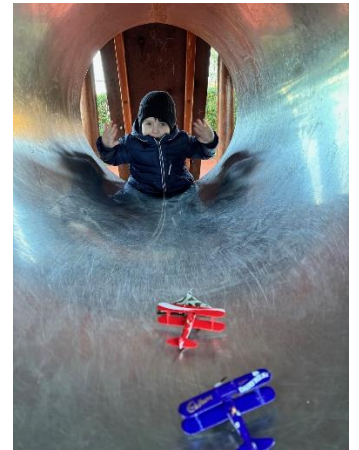

Maths:

Keeping us all busy this week – here's Paddy matching up the number pebbles with the number cards; and using the numicon to make a jigsaw! He's also matching the domino spots – excellent work, Paddy!

A spot of relaxation!

No wonder Paddy is such a popular member of our class... I couldn't resist adding these lovely photos of him – first at the computer, on the swivel chair, outside at break, in the sand and completing a jigsaw! What a happy face! David and Robert get busy with the tools while Elsie and Logan are busy with the peg beads! Lovely!

PE:

Continuing our hard work on skipping technique!

Here's a little exercise to make sure our feet and knees are doing as they're told! Skip whilst holding the ball between your feet! It's tricky but it makes us keep knees and feet together! Standing long jump next with the ball between the knees. This also holds everything in place while we jump!

...And finally, a small request from David... He tells me he's never held a gym ribbon in his life before – so we couldn't let that go by without a quick go! Here he is working on a circular motion. Well done, everyone!

Sharing:

I always love to hear about hobbies outside school.

Cooper shared his fabulous medal he received from taking part in the Harris football club event at the weekend.

It's a great share – thank you, Cooper!

Stickers!

It's good to collect!

Here's Logan with his completed sticker folder!

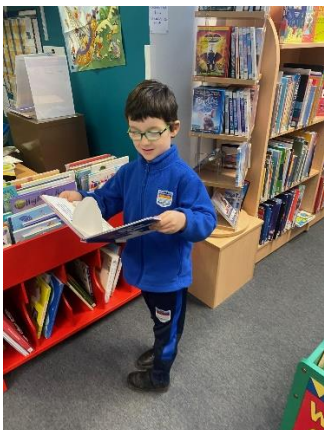

I am absolutely delighted for him – no wonder he looks pleased with himself!

A copy is in Logan's profile so he can take his beautiful folder home... Well done!

The Library:

Another visit to the library. Irene is away until next week, I think! Here we are choosing our books!

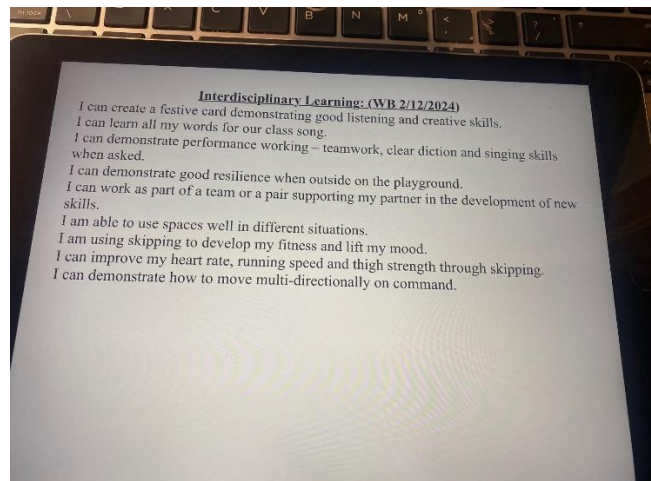

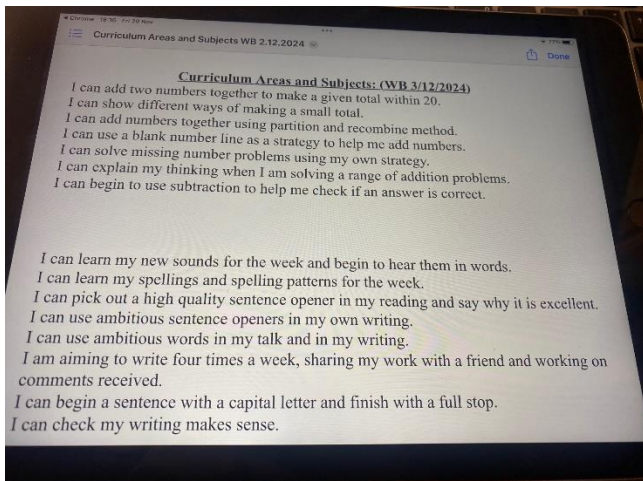

Pop-up books generated quite a bit of interest this week, as did texture books and non-fiction books! You just never know what you'll find in Tarbert Library!

Next Learning Block:

A thousand apologies, everyone! I am hampered by no decent printer at home so I hope you can read it all! I've done my best! I'm hoping order will be restored soon!

Have a great weekend, everyone!
