

What Could Live Interaction Look Like?

The following provide illustrations but is not a comprehensive list. Staff work with pupils in different ways and live interactions can take many forms.

- Live Interactions video meetings – teaching and meetings.
- Live feed – where the teacher is live on camera or sharing lesson activity seen on camera.
- Narrating live over shared online presentation or screen-sharing activity.
- Helpdesk type facility – live chat or messaging for support at timetabled/specified times, perhaps as follow-up to teacher sessions and independent learning tasks.
- Group work making use of channels or groups spaces in digital platform (such as in Microsoft Teams) to facilitate collaborative or group work.
- Pre-recorded lessons including such things as narrated presentations and live feature (such as PowerPoint, Live Present or similar tools) with follow-up live interaction online such as in conversations in online platform or online activity.
- Use of live digital polls/quizzes or feedback tools in order to generate discussion or provide later feedback (e.g. Polls in Microsoft Teams, Kahoot, Socrative, Mentimeter or other tools.)
- Use of demonstrations such as using visualiser or second camera/device
- Use of photographs such as worked examples/key moments in lesson and shared online
- Check-in chat, introduction to later independent task
