

ALBUM OF THE WEEK

This week our "Album of the Week" is 'Elephant' by The White Stripes

Elephant is the fourth studio album by the American Rock Duo 'The White Stripes' (Jack and Meg) and was released in 2003. The White Stripes set their own rules while they were recording this album: ten days in a non-modern studio. The liner notes include the disclaimer "No computers were used during the writing, recording, mixing, or mastering of this record".

TRACK 1 - SEVEN NATION ARMY

'Seven Nation Army' features distorted vocals, a simple drum beat, and is driven by a bass-like riff which was created by playing a guitar through a 'pitch shift' effect (an octave effect to sound like a bass). Does this 7 note guitar riff sound familiar? Listen to Anton Bruckner's 'Fifth Symphony'
