

Writer's Tricks

Your job is to collect a list of interesting and entertaining writer's tricks that you have read this week. The "tricks" could include ambitious adjectives or adverbs or examples of similes, metaphors, alliteration, personification or onomatopoeia. The list is endless! When you find some tricks, add them to the table below.

Example from the page	Type of trick	Page/ Paragraph	Reason for choice
"The rain danced a thousand deaths."	Personification	2/para 4	It describes how heavily and aggressively that the rain was falling.
