How can we help?

The Listening Stone Programme

We offer a safe, therapeutic play space for children to learn, explore and process some of the hardships that they have experienced.

Through various art forms like dance, singing, music, drawing, painting and theater, children learn to express their emotions in new and creative ways. Additionally, they develop life skills like decision-making, communication, self-awareness and problem solving. These abilities empower children to advocate for their progress on the path out of poverty.

How can you help?

Sponsor a child

A gift of £.. a month will give a child access to a safe play space with Listening Stone activities, a place for learning and a hot meal. They will also get taught basic tools they need to succeed, instilling in them confidence that they can break free from poverty and building them into engaged citizens of their communities. Direct links between empowerment and breaking free from poverty are real. Self-confidence, personal power and aspirations for the future are associated with a high increase in escaping poverty.
