

UNITED KINGDOM

I hope China can be moved to the place near United Kingdom. If this happened, then the Chinese and English will have more interaction, this will help more and more people know Chinese. Although some people think Chinese is very hard to learn, there should be some connection between English and Chinese. Some pronunciations are the same between these two languages. Perhaps, there will be a new Chinglish (Chinese-English) being developed. I hope so.