

Einstein called play the “highest form of research”

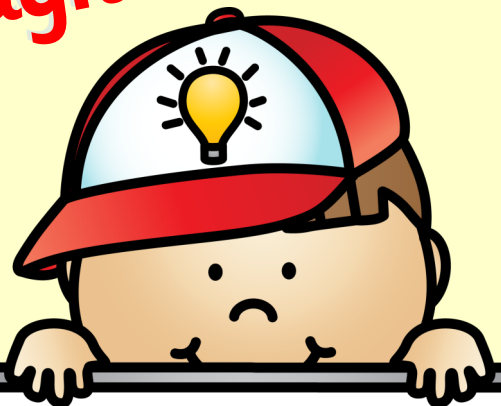

Children can concentrate for longer at play, learn to problem solve and risk assess. They also challenge themselves far more than in traditional forms of learning.

Learning Through Play

When playing, you and your child can talk and learn together

Let your child lead the play, get down to their level and have fun!