Online in 2020

We know that the COVID-19 outbreak has changed the way we all live, work and play and that this is a challenging and worrying time for many. In response, and in line with government updates, we have changed the way we work; ensuring we still do everything to support you or those you work with.

Whilst we are not able to offer face-to-face programmes, all the courses and sessions featured here offer lots of exciting ways to get involved virtually.

Don't worry if you don't have data or a phone or digital device, we will work with you to find a solution.
