

Useful websites for EAL children

How to use the Microsoft Translator App -
<https://youtu.be/9IAIhpAxpzo> (Useful for parents and pupils)

Using the Libby App - https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7o0jNH3Hz7o&ab_channel=ELServiceGCC (Borrow free e-books and translate to any language! All you need is a FREE library card. App is available on school iPads and can be downloaded on any phone/tablet free of charge)

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/worldservice/languages/> - watch the news and weather forecast in many different languages

<http://www.happychild.org.uk/freeway/french/vocab/weather00.htm> - generates worksheets with words for weather in Romanian, Portuguese, French, Dutch, Chinese SC, Chinese TC, German, Russian, Spanish, Polish, Arabic, Italian and Bulgarian.

<https://www.eslgamesplus.com/> You can find lots of colourful, interactive games for practising English at this jam-packed website, which also offers printable games, PowerPoint resources and versions for smartphones and tablets.

<https://learnenglish.britishcouncil.org/general-english>
<https://learnenglishkids.britishcouncil.org/fun-games/games>
The British Council Learn English sites has lots of free games for practising English for young learners, teenagers and adults. There are games to suit all tastes, including Beat the Keeper, Spelloween and Pic-Your-Wits, plus illustrated jokes and wordplay fun.

<https://www.english-online.org.uk/games/gamezone2.htm> English Online has a game zone with grammar and vocabulary games that you can either play online or download for free. Look out for the Grammar of Doom and Shoot a Sentence!

<https://www.eslkidstuff.com/OnlineGamesMain.htm> Young learners can find lots of free games for practising English at ESLkidstuff. With alphabet games and counting games, the level and content are particularly suited to very young kids and beginners.

<https://www.ello.org/english/> ELLLO offers over 3,000 free listening activities.

<https://www.speaklanguages.com/english/> Good site for developing subject vocabulary and users are able to hear the words for pronunciation.

<https://premierskillsenglish.britishcouncil.org/> Football themed support for learning English from British Council