

the Matter

You should have asked us ages ago.

THE MATTER is a new program planned and delivered by Snook, look us up, we're really friendly!

We are inviting you to take part in a pilot, a test, of a national program trying to give young people an opportunity to learn skills for work while telling the world what they think about important issues.

How does it work?

A company will provide a brief, a question, which they don't know the answer to.

You then form a team that researches the question and publishes a newspaper explaining your findings.

Snook will support this process and (because this is the pilot) ask you about the process to develop a program that can be recreated around the country.

So many reasons to take part

Like the fact you'll be part of designing a program that is going to affect the lives of young people in difficult circumstances around the country.

Or because the solutions you find and the newspaper you publish will be read by organisations who deal with that problem in the real world - you could change the world doing this.

You'll be designing and writing for a newspaper!

We can pay you £80 for your time and also some of your travel. Which isn't loads but it's also going to look look great on your CV, while giving you experience of running your own business, delivering for clients planning a budget and organising and keeping a schedule within a team.
