Child Sexual Exploitation and the impact on Children and Young People in Falkirk

The issue of child sexual exploitation of young people is increasingly attracting political and media attention across England. The recent Scottish review indicates similar experiences in Scotland. Falkirk, Stirling and Clackmannanshire Council areas, in partnership with the Scottish Government, are piloting a new approach to identify children at risk of sexual exploitation.

Using the 'My Dangerous Lover Boy' DVD, the session will allow you to explore risks and harm caused by sexual exploitation and to influence practice change and the development of practitioner guidance.
