3. As we move Towards a Nurturing city, continue to improve how we meet the needs of all children and young people, particularly those with additional support needs.
4. Make best use of our finance and resources to help ensure the best outcomes possible for our children and young people.

We have made very good progress in using and analysing data to inform practice and service delivery; we have developed data tracking systems that track all aspects of work;

We work very effectively with partner agencies to develop and support the delivery of outcomes through GIRFEC;

We support the health and well-being of children, young people and their families in collaboration with schools and multi-agency partners.

Our Areas of strong practice

Bringing psychological knowledge, skills and research perspective to support Glasgow's Learners;

The use of Implementation Science to inform the best use of resources, for example Restorative Approaches and Glasgow's Improvement Challenge (GIC);

Supporting professional learning to improve outcomes for children and young people;

Working in partnership at strategic and management levels to facilitate the development of joint work.

The graph shows the effectiveness of the SIIM and LC-JSTs as a means of accessing Educational Psychology advice and support.
