

What can we use the internet for?

• The internet is a global network of computers that are connected to each other. It allows us to communicate and share information with people all over the world.

• We can use the internet to:

- Find information
- Communicate with friends and family
- Shop online
- Watch videos
- Play games
- Learn new things

Internet Dangers!

Can you be hacked or a computer virus?!

• What does it mean to be hacked? It means someone is using your computer without your permission. They can steal your information, delete your files, or even control your computer.

• A computer virus is a program that can copy itself and spread to other computers. It can damage files and slow down your computer.

• You can protect yourself by:

- Keeping your computer updated
- Not opening suspicious emails
- Not clicking on suspicious links
- Using antivirus software

Key Points!

- Being online can be fun and useful!
- But we have to be careful and always remember to be safe!

How can we stay safe online?

• We should always use strong passwords that are hard to guess. We should also use two-step verification when possible.

• We should be careful about what we share online. We should not share our personal information, like our name, address, or phone number.

• We should be careful about who we talk to online. We should not talk to strangers and we should not give them our personal information.

• We should be careful about what we click on. We should not click on suspicious links or download files from unknown sources.

Security updates

• Software updates are important because they fix security holes in your software. They help protect your computer from viruses and other threats.

• You should always make sure your software is up to date. You can usually find updates in the settings menu of your software.
