Pastoral Care

- Every young person at Rosshall Academy is assigned to one of five House Groups. Each of these House Groups is led by a Depute Head Teacher and a Principal Teacher of Pastoral Care, supported by a team of Personal Support teachers and senior pupil prefects.
- Your child's Pastoral Care teacher will be your first point of contact if you have any concerns or queries regarding their life at the school, and they will be delighted to work with you to resolve any issues that may arise. By working closely with young people, their families, and staff across the school, the aim is to ensure the best possible school experience for each young person, from helping them settle in when they arrive at the school all the way through to supporting them into a positive post-school destination. The Pastoral Care team also acts as a link between the school and outside agencies, as appropriate.

ESOL

At Rosshall Academy we love cultural and linguistic diversity and feel it is a real strength in our community. There are more than 50 languages spoken at Rosshall academy by around a fifth of our pupils (and growing) so we have a Department for Linguistic and Cultural Inclusion that focuses on working with our learners who have English as an Additional Language (EAL).

Our focus is the young people in Rosshall Academy who speak a language besides English and we ensure they feel supported academically, linguistically, culturally and also from a well-being perspective. This ranges from language support classes, clubs, exam support and applications and personal statements for beyond school. We provide these as well as everyday practical support for living in Scotland (which is particularly important for families newer to the community), a safe space and people to chat to. In addition, we run ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages) courses to ensure that when your child is in senior phase, they can gain English qualifications in a way meaningful and useful to them. We also run adult ESOL classes and are planning to start other new exciting opportunities.

So, whether you speak more than one language or not, we feel that we have lots of exciting and important opportunities to ensure Rosshall's rich linguistic and cultural mix is enjoyed by all.

Developing Young Workforce

During S1 you will be learning skills and knowledge across the curriculum that will help you prepare for life beyond school. As part of learning in PSE you will make a My World of Work account.

You will be able to use this account to write a personal profile, find out more information about different career paths, complete quizzes that will help you learn what your strengths and interests are. In future years this will help you write a personal statement for employment, college or university.

In other subject areas you will learn about different kinds of career areas. You may also learn about employment skills.

There will also be opportunities to visit colleges and/or employers.
