

SEIC UPDATE

Aug - October 2023

What is the South East Improvement Collaborative (SEIC)?

SEIC is a collaboration between the City of Edinburgh, East Lothian, Fife, Midlothian and Scottish Borders. This collaboration enables leaders, teachers, practitioners and a range of partners to network with others across the region, to share practice and approaches, to work together and to help improve outcomes for children and young people. More details can be found in the SEIC Plan 2023-24.

What opportunities and supports does SEIC offer?

This session there are a range of universal supports, open to all throughout this session and a set of bespoke support programmes called 'Connectors' that schools and early years settings opt into, all set within the SEIC Empowered System. Read on to find out about this year's opportunities and supports.

Universal Offers

Pedagogy Pioneers

Highly experienced and skilled teachers and practitioners within all sectors share with peers their practice and resources, helping build capacity, consistency and confidence, through a series of webinars. These will be promoted throughout the session via your local authority communications, Twitter and the SEIC website.

SEIC HT/ELC Manager Trios

53 leaders from across the region are taking part in regular networking with peers, with time for critical reflection, exchanging ideas, learning from each other and making change happen in their settings. This opportunity is open to all settings throughout the session. Please get in touch with Colin McLean if you want to find out more.

Tri-Nations Conferences

The opportunity to attend one of the regular cross nation conferences is on offer to a small group each session. Specific themes are identified that allow sharing of context, experiences and how each nation is tackling some of the challenges faced across the UK. Presentations will be made available to all via the SEIC Website.

World Education Summit

SEIC funded licences provide access to an online platform containing recordings of world renowned speakers and researchers and a wealth of useful professional learning materials, available to all schools in the region. To get access please contact Alistair Stewart via email.

Bespoke Supports Update
