

What right is your child learning?	How are they learning in nursery	What can you do at home
Article 24 You have the right to healthcare, clean water, food and a safe environment to live in 	Children learn about other countries where other children don't have these things. They learn about the job of the doctor and how medicine can make you better.	Talk about all the things you do to keep safe. Have a hunt in the house for things that are dangerous and talk about why they are dangerous like medicine, straighteners, cleaning products etc
Article 32 You have the right to play 	Children learn through play everyday in nursery and are encouraged to develop an understanding of what they are learning	Look at your child's learning journal and talk to them about their experiences and what they are learning
Article 39 You have the right to help if you have been hurt or mistreated	Children learn about who can help them if they are hurt. What adults in their lives can protect them.	Talk to your child about who they would go to if they were hurt or if someone hurt them. Let them know that you are there if they are ever hurt in any way.

We have a range of books, toys and props in nursery that you can borrow if you would like to learn more or speak with your child about any of their rights. Just ask a member of staff.

Children's Rights

What is Your Child Learning

"Rights" are things every child should have or be able to do. All children have the same rights. These rights are listed in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Almost every country has agreed to these rights. All the rights are connected to each other, and all are equally important.

Sometimes, we have to think about rights in terms of what is the best for children in a situation, and what is critical to life and protection from harm. As you grow, you have more responsibility to make choices and exercise your rights.

Every Week your child takes part in our Robbie Rights programme. At Wellpark we feel it important that children understand what their rights are and how they protect them from harm.

We have put together a list of the rights your child will be learning about and how you can support this at home.

What is the impact on children's learning?

Learning about children's rights can empower children and young people to be active citizens in their school, local community and across the world.

Knowing and understanding children's rights is not enough; children and young people also need to be supported to develop skills of talking, listening, empathy, research, debate and negotiation so that they can claim their entitlement to dignity, or share their learning in a rights-based manner with others. All children have the same rights and may need support to develop the skills that will allow them to respect everyone's rights.

This is Robbie Rights. He helps your child every week to learn about the world, their rights and how they are special because they are children.

Article 7 & 8 You have the right to have a name and an identity 	Children learn what their name is and how it differs from their friends name. They learn what their name looks like. They learn that they are part of a Scottish community and what that means.	Talk to your child about their name. Why did you call your child that, is it a family name? Look at family pictures. Can they name family members?
Article 12 You have the right to give your opinion and have adults listen to it	Children are asked what toys they would like to buy, what their favourite snack is and every month they are asked what they would like to learn about.	It is important children understand why their opinions cannot always be taken on board. If your child wants something it helps to explain why they can't get it.
Article 15 You have the right to choose your own friends and join groups	Children get to take part in Bookbug, dancing and football. They make friends everyday with the help of staff and understand how to be a good friend	Allow your children to have the opportunity to make friends. If possible allow your child to join groups such as dancing.
Article 19 You have the right to be protected from being abused or harmed	Children learn about what behaviour is harmful and why it important that they are kept safe from harm 	You can help your child understand this by talking to them about things that may hurt them and how it is your job to keep them safe.
