

Blob Tree

Activity One

What are the Blobs?

They are neither male nor female, young or old! They are open to interpretation. Each character could be you, your best friend or a personal enemy. What is true for you might be completely the opposite for someone else. Also, you might look at a sheet and say that you feel like one Blob today, but tomorrow be a completely different Blob. You might find that a friend sees you in a completely opposite way!

It is important to remember that there are no right or wrong answers or thoughts when working with the Blobs.

Here are some questions to start you off. Don't think about it for long, go with your initial thoughts and reactions.

You might want to print the sheet and create a 'Colour Key' to show your answers.
