

THE SHAO HAO SHOW!

Shao Hao visited KPS to host a live performance focused on mental health, discrimination, and equality. He's a Chinese British singer-songwriter who is passionate about diversity, inclusion, and emotional wellbeing among young people. He performed to all P3-P7 classes.

Shao Hao shared his journey while celebrating K-Pop, opening conversations about identity, culture, and acceptance. His honest stories about mental health and staying true to yourself gave our children at KPS a fresh look at resilience and kindness. The energy of having their own live concert made the day unforgettable.

He also spoke openly about facing racial and cultural bias and the power of empathy. Paired with the excitement of the performance, his message encouraged students to value who they are, care for others, and make healthy choices. Many children were thrilled to experience their first concert, and the buzz continued as they lined up for autographs. Shao Hao later shared how much he appreciated the warm messages some families sent after the session.
