

NICK MORGAN NO SCOTLAND NO PARTY

Keith Primary kicked off Scotland's World Cup bid with a rousing visit from a famous musician.

Singer-songwriter Nick Morgan took centre stage in front a packed school hall to perform his hit anthem 'No Scotland, No Party.'

Pupils from P1 to P7 dressed in Scotland strips, tartan and blue, and waved Saltires to fully get into the spirit of the event. Even pupils from Keith Grammar School came to join in the party and show support for our national team.

To mark the occasion, KPS was decorated with blue and white balloons, bunting, flags and paper footballs, all courtesy of the amazing Frog Squad.

With Scotland's national football team back in the World Cup for the first time in 28 years, Nick was on a national tour of schools.

Thanks to the passion and enthusiasm of our pupils, parents and staff, Nick's visit was absolutely one for the history books.
