

Burns Supper

LI: I can read a passage and show my understanding of what I have read by choosing the correct missing word.

Fill in the missing words to complete the text about a Burns Supper.

Supper

bagpipes

poet

Selkirk

songs

January

haggis

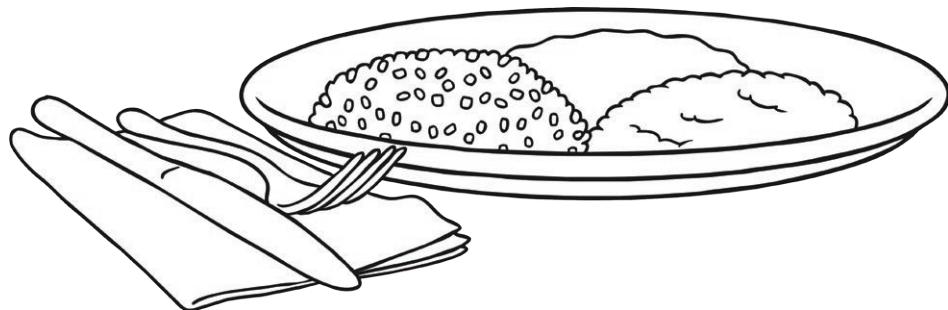

goodbye

A Burns Supper is held every year on 25th _____ . It is to celebrate the famous Scottish _____ , Robert Burns. The first Burns _____ was held by Robert's friends in his memory after he died.

At a Burns Supper, a traditional meal of _____ is served. The _____ are often played while the haggis is carried in by the chef.

Many of Robert Burns' poems and _____ are performed at a Burns Supper. Some of the most famous poems read at a Burns Supper are The _____ Grace and Address to a Haggis.

After the meal, more poems, songs and speeches are performed to celebrate the life of Robert Burns. At the end of a Burns Supper, the famous song Auld Lang Syne is sung to say _____ to the guests.

Burns Supper Answers

A Burns Supper is held every year on 25th January. It is to celebrate the famous Scottish poet, Robert Burns. The first Burns Supper was held by Robert's friends in his memory after he died.

At a Burns Supper, a traditional meal of haggis is served. The bagpipes are often played while the haggis is carried in by the chef.

Many of Robert Burns' poems and songs are performed at a Burns Supper. Some of the most famous poems read at a Burns Supper are The Selkirk Grace and Address to a Haggis.

After the meal, more poems, songs and speeches are performed to celebrate the life of Robert Burns. At the end of a Burns Supper, the famous song Auld Lang Syne is sung to say goodbye to the guests.

Burns Supper

LI: I can read a passage and show my understanding of what I have read by choosing the correct missing word.

Fill in the missing words to complete the text about a Burns Supper.

Supper
songs

bagpipes
January

poet
haggis

Rose
tatties

Selkirk
goodbye

A Burns Supper is held every year on 25th _____ . It is to celebrate the famous Scottish _____, Robert Burns. The first Burns _____ was held by Robert's friends in his memory after he died. The tradition has been continued by people in Scotland and all over the world.

At a Burns Supper, a traditional meal of _____, neeps and _____ (turnips and potatoes) is served. The haggis is brought to the table with great ceremony, often accompanied by someone playing the _____ and reciting the poem Address to a Haggis.

Many of Robert Burns' poems and _____ are performed at a Burns Supper. Some of the most famous being The _____ Grace, Tam O'Shanter and A Red, Red _____ .

After the meal, more poems, songs and speeches are performed to celebrate the life and works of Robert Burns. A speech called the 'Toast to the Lassies' is made by one of the male guests, and a reply to this is made by one of the female guests. At the end of a Burns Supper, the famous song Auld Lang Syne is sung to say _____ to the guests.

Burns Supper Answers

A Burns Supper is held every year on 25th January. It is to celebrate the famous Scottish poet, Robert Burns. The first Burns Supper was held by Robert's friends in his memory after he died. The tradition has been continued by people in Scotland and all over the world.

At a Burns Supper, a traditional meal of haggis, neeps and tatties (turnips and potatoes) is served. The haggis is brought to the table with great ceremony, often accompanied by someone playing the bagpipes and reciting the poem Address to a Haggis.

Many of Robert Burns' poems and songs are performed at a Burns Supper. Some of the most famous being The Selkirk Grace, Tam O'Shanter and A Red, Red Rose.

After the meal, more poems, songs and speeches are performed to celebrate the life and works of Robert Burns. A speech called the 'Toast to the Lassies' is made by one of the male guests, and a reply to this is made by one of the female guests. At the end of a Burns Supper, the famous song Auld Lang Syne is sung to say goodbye to the guests.

Burns Supper

LI: I can read a passage and show my understanding of what I have read by choosing the correct missing word.

Fill in the missing words to complete the text about a Burns Supper.

Supper	bagpipes	poet	Selkirk
songs	January	haggis	goodbye
tatties	reciting	Rose	lassies

A Burns Supper is held every year on 25th _____ . It is to celebrate the famous Scottish _____, Robert Burns. The first Burns _____ was held by Robert's friends in his memory after he died. The tradition has been continued by people in Scotland and all over the world.

At a Burns Supper, a traditional meal of _____, neeps and _____ (turnips and potatoes) is served. The haggis is brought to the table with great ceremony, often accompanied by someone playing the _____ and _____ the poem Address to a Haggis.

Many of Robert Burns' poems and _____ are performed at a Burns Supper. Some of the most famous being The _____ Grace, Tam O'Shanter and A Red, Red _____.

After the meal, more poems, songs and speeches are performed to celebrate the life and works of Robert Burns. A speech called the Toast to the _____ is made by one of the male guests and a reply to this is made by one of the female guests. At the end of a Burns Supper, the famous song Auld Lang Syne is sung to say _____ to the guests.

Burns Supper Answers

A Burns Supper is held every year on 25th January. It is to celebrate the famous Scottish poet, Robert Burns. The first Burns Supper was held by Robert's friends in his memory after he died. The tradition has been continued by people in Scotland and all over the world.

At a Burns Supper, a traditional meal of haggis, neeps and tatties (turnips and potatoes) is served. The haggis is brought to the table with great ceremony, often accompanied by someone playing the bagpipes and reciting the poem Address to a Haggis.

Many of Robert Burns' poems and songs are performed at a Burns Supper. Some of the most famous being The Selkirk Grace, Tam O'Shanter and A Red, Red Rose.

After the meal, more poems, songs and speeches are performed to celebrate the life and works of Robert Burns. A speech called the Toast to the lassies is made by one of the male guests and a reply to this is made by one of the female guests. At the end of a Burns Supper, the famous song Auld Lang Syne is sung to say goodbye to the guests.