

Reader of the Week

Mrs McPhee

What was your favourite childhood book ?

Little Woman by Louisa May Alcott. It was a recommendation from my mum. I also loved the Famous Five and Malory Towers books by Enid Blyton.

What kind of books do you read now?

I love a good crime/murder story especially ones set in Scotland. I usually have a young adult book on the go too and am currently reading The Infinite by Patience Agbabi, one of the Scottish Book Trust's Teen Book Prize shortlisted books.

Which fictional place would you like to visit?

When I was young I had red shoes that I loved so I think getting the chance to wear them again and dance along the yellow brick road to the Emerald City would be fun!

I would also like to visit Diagon Alley and Hogwarts from the Harry Potter books.

Books or films?

Both but like to read the book first.

Books or kindles?

Can't beat books but kindle when on holiday.

Fiction or Non Fiction?

Definitely fiction for me although I do like biographies and autobiographies.
