

Progress Update

As we continue with our initial activities outlined in our first newsletter, we thought it was the right time for a further update. The car park construction on Footfield Road is well underway. We hope you have noticed the machine that has started to form the first part of the new building's foundations.

The project is required to make a number of drainage connections into the existing Scottish Water pipework that runs under the adjacent roads. We have made connections on Babylon Drive and Hamilcomb Road, but four more connections are required at the locations shown on the adjacent plan. With continued liaison and agreement with the Roads Department, the connections on Babylon Road will be made in February. To enable these works, the highlighted section of Babylon Road will be closed for 3 weeks starting on Monday 12th February.

We appreciate the support of our neighbouring community through this first part of the project and apologise for any inconvenience that these upcoming works may cause. We will continue to keep you up to date with regular newsletters.
