

Down the Rabbit Hole

L.I. - I am learning to write a narrative story using a story starter.

Look at the picture below and then the start of the story. Think about where the girl will land as she falls down the rabbit hole. Will it be an exciting new world there? You are going to use your imagination and continue the story. Try to use lots of descriptions for what she would see, hear and do. Remember to use good vocabulary. You can use a thesaurus online to come up with more exciting words for your descriptions. Remember to check your punctuation and write in paragraphs.

Down, down, down she went, deeper into the rabbit hole. It seemed like she had been falling for an eternity, as if time had slowed almost to a stand-still. What was this place?
