

Sherlock Ch5 Red

This week I would like you to complete your e-reader on Sherlock Holmes.

Tasks:

Inference

The author gives us many descriptions that infer clues about the characters. Here is an example:

“His face was white and his lips tinged with blue.” P18

The colour of his face implies he is very unwell as paleness is often associated with illness. The fact that his lips are also blue implies he is cold, has a fever perhaps or is suffering from an illness.

Find 5 quotes from Chapter 5 and explain what they imply about a character or about any evidence that Holmes discovers!

Visualisation:

Pick any character (apart from Holmes) and create a visualisation of them with quotations and page numbers. Remember to sketch the character and use a double page. Include information about their physical appearance, personality and role in the story.

Book Review

Write a book review about Sherlock Holmes. Would you read another Murder Mystery? What do you like about this genre? There is a Book Review Template previously posted on the Glow Page that can help you with this!
