Sounds and Spelling

Your sound for this week is th.

You can watch a video about this sound here:

th sound

Here are some tricky words I would like you to practice this week:

she, come, from

Try and think of as many th words as you can. Can you find any in your house? Try and write a list, draw pictures, or tell someone about all the th words you can find!

Reading/Writing

Make up a new story for Biff, Chip, Kipper, Mum, Dad and Floppy! You can write it down, draw pictures and tell your story to someone! Here are some story ideas:

Floppy gets lost and has to find his way back home!

A magic key takes the children into space!

The family get a new pet, and it's a cat!

Commas

Sounds and Spelling

Your sound for this week is o-e. A magic 'e' at the end of a word turns an 'o' into a capital 'O' sound! Here are your sound and spelling words:

rope, nose, stone, broke, home, more, school, Mrs

Choose a different spelling activity from yesterday and complete it for your spelling and sounds words:

- Spelling words story
- Spelling sentences
- Silly sentences
- Backwards spelling
- Foreign language spelling
- Rainbow spelling

Reading

Keep reading reading reading! Now I would like you to try to advertise one of your books to someone. You can record yourself talking about the book - what it's about, who the main characters are, what exciting things happen and why EVERYONE SHOULD BUY THIS BOOK! You could record your advertisement onto a phone, a computer, or even just talk to someone about your book!

Writing

Make a poster to advertise one of your reading books! Imagine this poster is going to be going in the window of a busy bookshop. How will you make sure your poster encourages people to buy the book? Try to make it colourful, bold and clear, and make sure it contains a little bit of information about the book on it!

There is an example down below!

Exclamation Marks

Sounds and Spelling
