NHS Lanarkshire Volunteering

Around 400 people give their time and commitment as volunteers to a wide range of services and initiatives throughout NHS Lanarkshire.

These volunteers make an invaluable contribution to the level of care and service patients receive.

People get involved for a variety of different reasons – whether it's because they have used a service or just want to help a particular project or even individual.

As well as helping others, volunteering also provides an opportunity to gain new skills and experience such as:

- work experience
- personal development
- learn from and be supported by staff
- increase your knowledge of health
- participate in a wider social life
- access relevant training

• Recruitment Process

- All volunteers in NHS Lanarkshire go through the same recruitment process.

All potential volunteers complete a registration form and supply the names and addresses of two character references.

We then meet up for a chat about what you are looking for from your volunteering opportunity and complete paperwork for an enhanced disclosure.

You will also need to undergo an Occupational Health check.

This process should take about six to eight weeks.

Examples of some of the Volunteering roles currently available within NHS Lanarkshire are:

Hairmyres / Wishaw / Monklands Hospitals: -
