

The Story of 'ti'

Ben and Belle's Granny had just had an operation. The twins were on their way to the station to visit her. When the train arrived they settled in their seats. The conductor, who did the ticket collection, tore off a portion and gave the rest back to Belle.

Ben realised he had forgotten his sandwiches.

"Oh well," said Belle. "We will just have to ration mine."

"That's just great," thought Dasher. "I bet I'm left with the crusts!"