

Welcome to the yearbook 2001! Every year this publication grows in popularity and in sophistication. Mr Greer and Mr Mooney got a new digital camera so that they could snap around the school 'capturing images' and 'down-loading' it to their files. Obviously this is one good idea and it allows for a greater range of material to be published. The only flaw that I can see is that both Mr Mooney and Mr Greer really struggle to cope with the idea of pointing and clicking their new toy. As photographers they're only learning, but as the driving force behind this book they are second to none and on behalf of the whole school I really do want to thank them for their tireless work on the project. We are equally indebted to all the other helpers, particularly S6.

To everyone else, enjoy this trip through the last year and realise that in a few years time this book will be one of your treasured possessions.

Dr. O'Keane.

As AHT I usually work with senior school, some of whom are heavily involved with the production of the yearbook. However, last summer, Mr Byrne departed to the 'leafy suburbs' and I became Acting Depute Head.

This again has been a very busy year for the school...and for me! Like most of you, a great deal of 'new learning' has taken place during that time, proving that you're never too old (who said I was old!)

At this time of year I'm always amazed at the talents displayed by our pupils. Many I would like to wish on departing S6 every success in developing those talents even further. I hope you continue to develop those talents and achieve the success of which you are capable.

Mr Tollan

Looking back over the academic term I really feel that the pupils of CNHS have again done themselves proud. My involvement with supported study has again highlighted the fact that pupils in this school are motivated, they are indeed aiming for something higher and better. Though I must admit a few have said that it was the possibility of winning a fiver that led them in the direction of supported study- these people, I'm sure, will go on to be either politicians or lawyers.

Of course, I'm sure all the pupils would accept that a great deal of their success was founded on the hard work of the teachers. On behalf of all pupils I would like to say thanks to all the staff. Personally, I would like to thank those involved with PSE. Your efforts were much appreciated. Cheers!

Mr McGill

Where has this year gone? I have thoroughly enjoyed my year as Head of lower school. I really like the variety of tasks associated with this remit which brings you into contact with staff and pupils across the school.

I have enjoyed the support of the Senior Management team and colleagues in carrying out this remit. I am indebted to Mrs Banks, Miss McGinley, Mrs Smith and Mr De Rosa for their support in looking after two very large yeargroups. I have particularly enjoyed my role with regard to primary liaison and again must thank Mrs McGlinchey, Mrs Gallacher and Mrs McNamara for all their hard work.

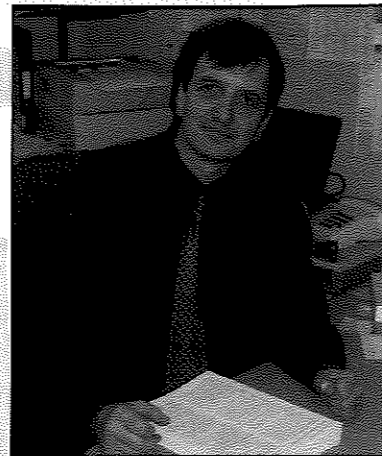

Sixth year, what can I say! You have been great, particularly helping the young pupils to settle in through the Buddy Club, Paired Reading Programme, P7 Open Evening, etc. For that you have my thanks.

I wish you every success. Take care!

Well, leaving behind "The Young Ones" in S1 and S2, (not to mention the weans in P7!) was a real wrench when I moved to Middle School this year. However, the challenges of the new job have certainly been every bit as 'interesting'. Of course the Third Years are all familiar faces having followed me through from Second Year to my new post (nae luck bpoys!). Fourth Year is a very special year, of course, with work experience, Outward Bound and the SQA Exams. On every occasion the Fourth Years have been a credit to the School and I know they will do as well as they deserve in the forthcoming exams. In this, the Olympic year, our theme has been, "What have you done today to make yourself proud?" Both Third and Fourth Year have had a lot to be proud of in session 2000/2001.

Let me again praise the efforts of those Sixth Year pupils who have worked on this publication. Finally, all the best to the 'outgoing' S6. Remember, always believe in yourself and wonderful things will happen.

It has been my pleasure and my privilege to work with the present Sixth Year. As a year group, you have been helpful and responsible, showing consideration for one another and for younger pupils. Your eagerness to volunteer and participate in school events, and your politeness when representing the school at outside events have been commented on regularly.

Now that you are moving on, this yearbook will remind you of great times that you spent at CNHS. But if Newman has tried to teach you anything, it is that your best moments are always ahead of you, and that looking forward is more important than looking back. Each of you leaves school prepared to take advantage of the opportunities that will come your way and with a number of friends- students and staff- that you can continue to count on.

A big thanks to those who produced this book! I wish you all success in the path you have chosen. Thank you, Sixth Year, for your contribution to the school. Well done!

2001: A Newman Odyssey

Once upon a time(August 95 to be precise)a group of bright young enthusiasts gathered in the humble town of Bellshill to embrace their destiny and secure their future. CNHS stood tall, intimidating and looking rather like a spaceship, but nevertheless the gang straightened, not their CNHS sweatshirts -these stylish yet practical garments were not yet invented- but their, what was then, Sweater Shop jumpers and track suit tops, took a deep breath and entered the building. And so their journey began.....

So what can I say about our 6 years at CNHS? I could say they were the happiest years of my life, filled with extreme joy and profound delight. But I'd be lying. I could say that nothing but heartache, hatred and intolerable stress filled these years. But I'd be lying again(though the intolerable stress part seems apt). What I will say is that, inevitably, CNHS has been a, somewhat bizarre, mixture of both up's and down's, the important thing being that we survived them together.

Although we lost some friends after 4th year; some left to go to college, some to work and some to prison, the rest of us have struggled through right to the bitter end.

Our year has developed into a tight-knit happy Newman family. Sarcasm, you say. Well not at all. Our Newman experience is one which is unique to us, one that we experienced together.

We've travelled together; trips to London and Spain. Being in different environments allowed us to view different sides of our peers. We were stunned by weird things:

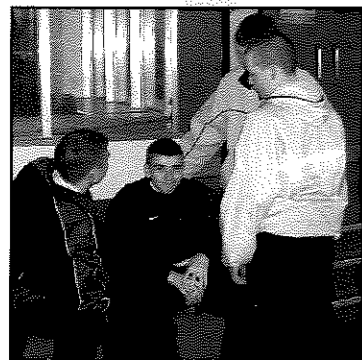

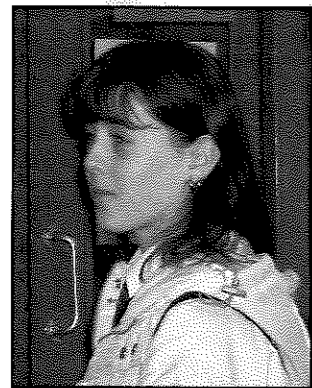

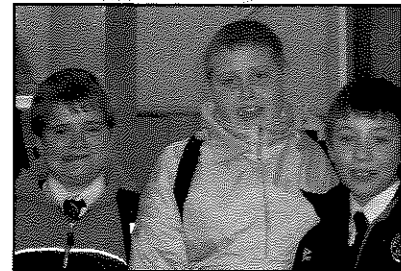

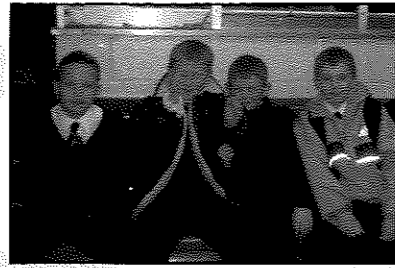

Alana's secret guitar skills (Keep practicing Alana!), dazzled by Vicki's linguistic ability, overjoyed by the kindness of fellow students who supported Lianna through her near death experience which left her hospitalised in a foreign country (melodramatic?, Lianna?)

We've achieved great things together. Our efforts in participating in and organising charity fund raising events have been outstanding. Our cash donations have been plentiful, though we had little choice but to hand over the cash with our very own Mother Theresa - AKA Claire Murphy - hounding us at every turn! The Sierra Leone appeal was a phenomenal success and our year group played a large part in making it so worthwhile. So well done us, what little angels we are! Whatever will CNHS do when we leave? (probably throw a party!)

Together we've studied (and stressed) for exams, cried at Mr Flood's bad jokes and laughed at Mr Tollan's foam perm. Together we've stood and united we fell, one for all and all for.....OK, as usual I'm getting a tad carried away but you see where I'm going with this? You don't? What I'm trying to say is that we've grown up together, we've accepted each other for who we are, learned from each other and if CNHS has taught us anything, it's taught us the power of team work. Solidarity 6th year!

No doubt we'll meet again, train stations, super markets, mental institutions: all are common places for bumping into (and trying to avoid!) old familiar faces. After all, it's a small, small world and tomorrow's just another day.

.....And now 6 years down the line their journey is over. Clad in denim and dolly shoes, oozing with confidence and Newman appeal, they head off, hand in hand, into the rising sun of their future lives. Fin.

That was the year that was

JUNE Exams over, we return to school satisfied and proud that as students and teachers, against all the odds, we have made it through Higher Still. Just a case of sit back and wait! In the real world nothing much is happening apart from Euro 2000. Scotland fail to qualify but the English do not let us down, bowing out pathetically in the first round stage. Oh and a certain Martin O'Neill decides to set up shop in the East-end.

JULY Six long weeks to recharge the old batteries. Newman punters stretched out on beaches from Majorca to Morcambe. Spot them a mile away with the milk bottle legs and the prickly heat. The dreaded flight home even more nerve-wracking after concorde explodes in Paris.

AUGUST Waiting on exam results. Waiting. Waiting. Waiting... The SQA fiasco strikes. The whole system is flawed. Incompetent officials walk off with golden handshakes while the kids are told to be patient. Their only bits of paper after all!

In Glasgow one half of the city sinks to a 6-2 defeat. While in Russia the Kursk submarine sinks, drowning all on board.

SEPTEMBER A bunch of fat truckers and Tory farmers bring the country to a standstill. The petrol crisis. Food shortages. Fights break out in the Viewpark scotmid, apparently over a can of chick-peas. In Australia things are far more harmonious as Britain puts together one of its greatest performances in Olympic history.

OCTOBER Apart from the glorious week off school this month is a quiet one. The teachers are humiliated in the pupil-staff football match. While a group of Newman pupils brave the elements to complete a pilgrimage walk in Spain.

NOVEMBER Americans go to the polls to choose their new president. Not much to choose between the two of them but the yanks still make it difficult. A score draw is settled by a bunch of right wing lawyers. Hurrah for democracy!

DECEMBER Newman is overcome with festive spirit. Cinderella and the Golden Guttie goes off without offending anyone much to the disappointment of the shows creators. In the real world the trains literally come off the tracks leaving Christmas punters jammed on the roads. In the Holy City people trade in goodwill for stone throwing and machine guns. But Madonna is getting married in Scotland so everything is aw right! Merry Christmas!

JANUARY In this the first month George W Bush enters the Whitehouse only to find that Clinton has hopped off with 150 grands worth of furniture. In Britain they are still trying to flog the Millennium dome and rumour has that M&D's are in there with a shout. The month ends with the sensational conviction of a Libyan, found guilty of the bobmbing the Pan-Am flight over Lockerbie.

FEBRUARY Peter Mandellson goes kicking and scratching from office as he is found not to be lying, again. Rangers suffer back to back defeats to their oldest rivals, inspiring the East-end poets to rhyme such difficult words as bald, fat and sack. Britain and the U.S bomb Baghdad. In Viewpark two old ladies are at it again in the local Scotmid, fighting over a packet of green lentils, as panic buying kicks in due to the foot and mouth outbreak. The two vans at the shool gates report record losses and resort to smuggling donkey meat in from Azerbaijan. Profits soar as CNHS pupils get into the taste of 'ee-aw burgers'!

MARCH

Another train disaster hits the U.K. In pop music the manufactured band Hear' Say smash all records for a debut band. In sport, Celtic lift the first silver-ware of the season in The Larsson Final, while in rugby Scotland scrape a win to beat the Italians. In politics the labour party spend thousands trying to demonise Hague. Why? Foot and Mouth goes on and on and on...

Outward Bound

Loch Eil again provided the setting as several groups of CNHS pupils put themselves through the Outward Bound experience. Rafting, canoeing, hill-walking and climbing were just a few of the many challenges the pupils had to overcome. All involved were a credit to themselves and the school. Mr McCue was even invited to a royal garden party - which he declined! Naturally.

Outward Bound

Claire Murphy

See you all when I finished working with the starving biaphrons in Gambia! What I be if I wasn't out making myself a better person? (A Shopaholic or something!)

Talent Show

Boy-Band mania hit CNHS in the build up to Easter. An all female audience found themselves locked in a form of group hysteria with all sorts being thrown at the stage. (Mr Flood would like his pants back, along with any other RE materials that are dotted around the school!)

First on was S-Camp 7 who seemed to be taking their roles very seriously. Indeed one member has subsequently decided to make the dressing up thing a permanent lifestyle!!!

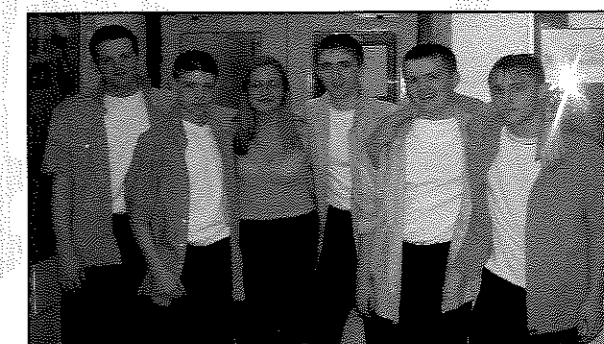

Then came Fatherzone, a fusion of Father Ted meets the Bay City Rollers. The horrible Full Monty bits really were rather shocking, with the Daily Record offering Thousands to Mooney and Greer for the Photos. Sorry Fr Stephen but money talks.

Next up were Wildlife, who really brought back memories of the toilets in the old jungle at Celtic Park.

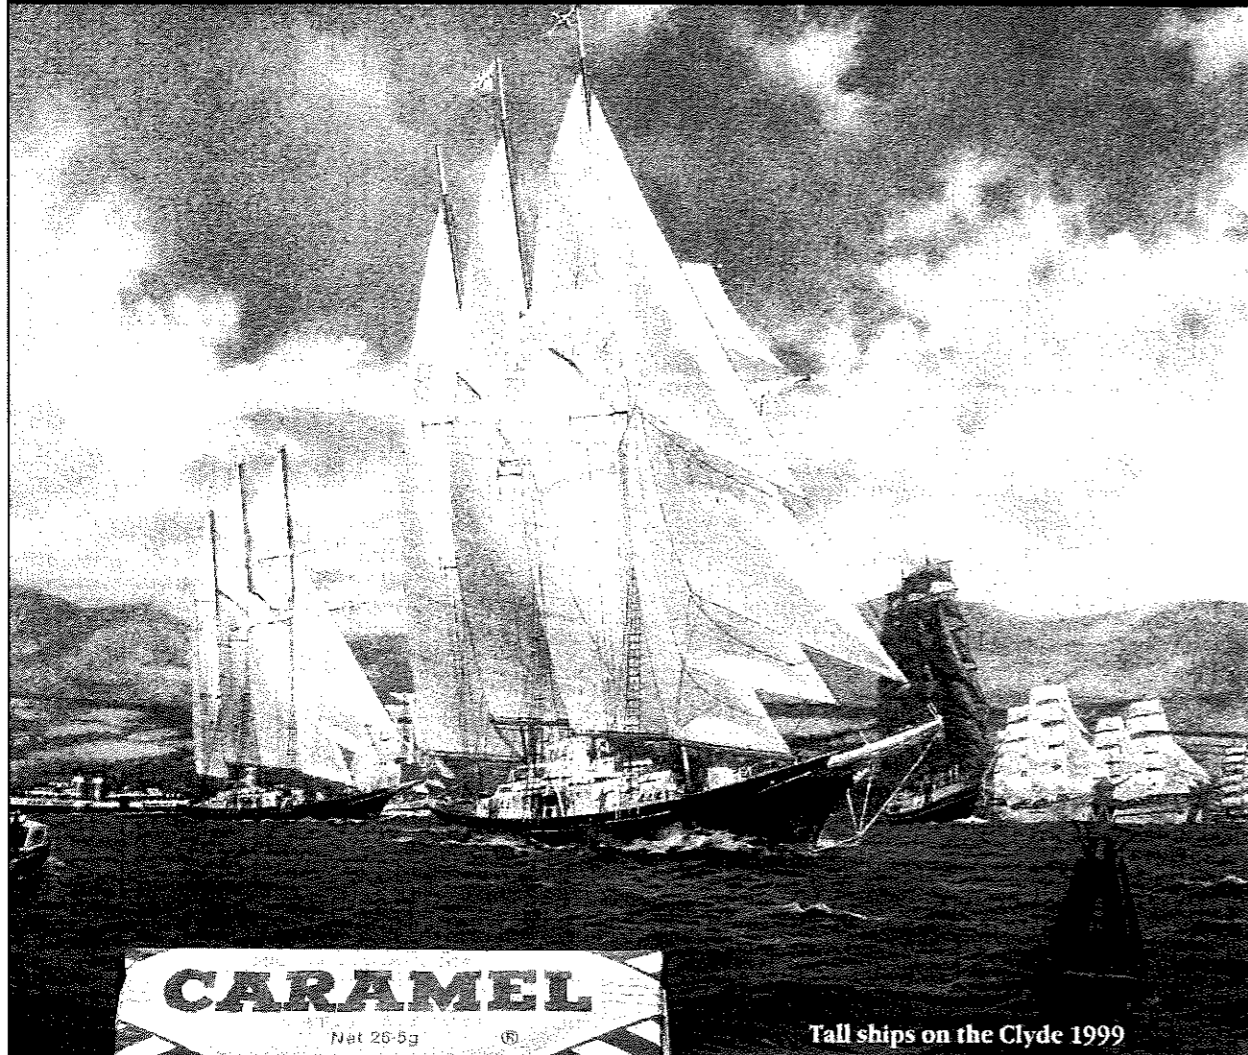

It was fitting then that N-Stinx took the stage and boy didn't they just do that. These guys were so scary they could make a fortune scaring the rats off the local rubbish tip.

Last and, in many ways, certainly least, were the Six-pack, Fat-pack or whatever. My god! Talk about dragging the carcass across the stage. These Dinosaurs made Keith Richards look like a choir-boy. As the audience departed a shocked, rather traumatised, girl was heard to mutter : " Oooh isn't McCue starting to look his age!!! "

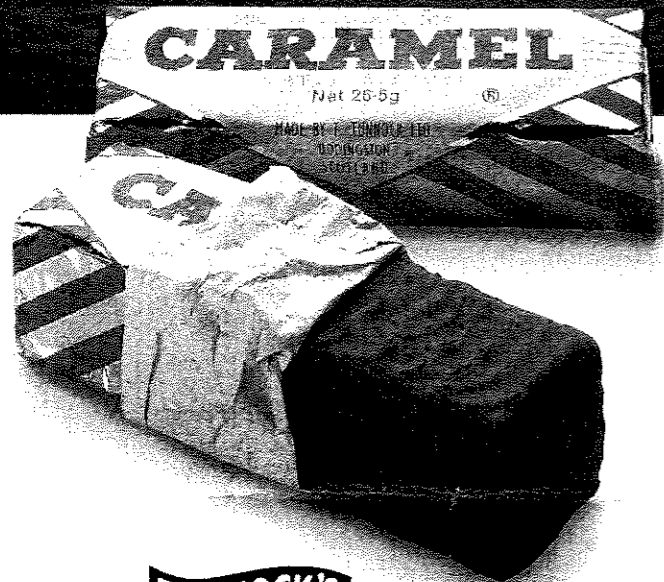

Nuff said! Respect!!!

Ceilidh

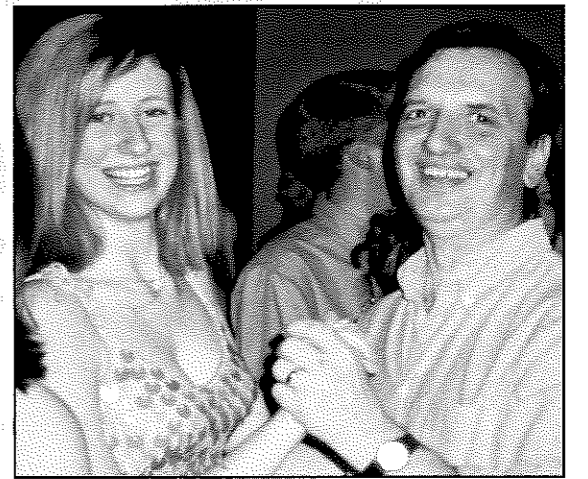

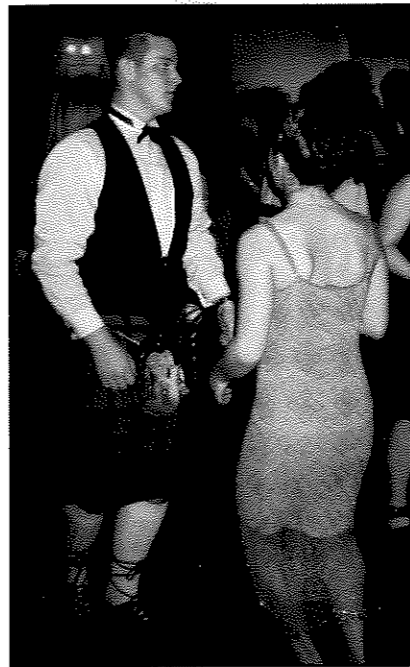

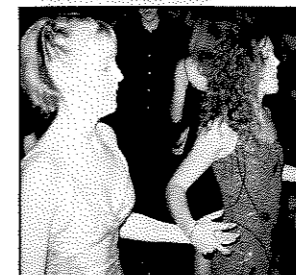

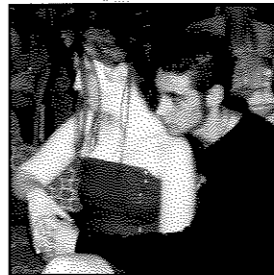

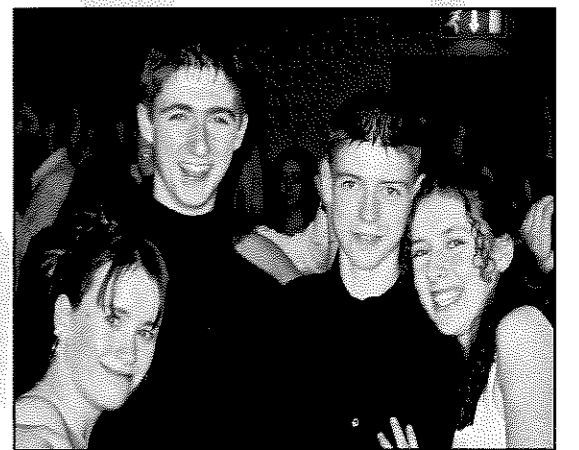

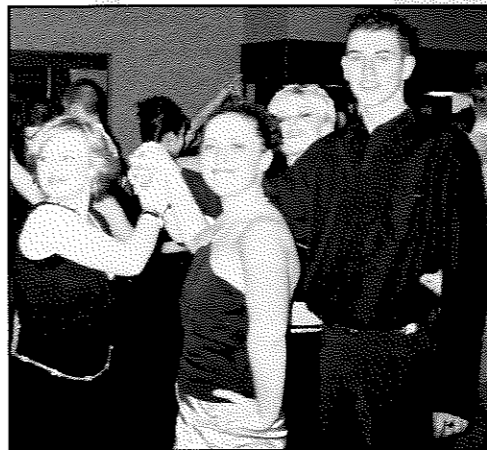

Remember, remember that night in November!

Yes, it was ceilidh time again and the S5/6 pupils again demonstrated their sophistication and class. From the 'Gay Gordon's' to 'Strip the Willow' the pupils strutted their stuff. The staff surprisingly scrubbed up well, though it has to be said that one or two stumbled around on two left feet.

Once the lights came up and the music died, everyone headed home for a good night's sleep, to ensure fresh faces and eager brains the next day at school. Uh-huh!

Cinderella and the Golden Guttie

The CNHS show broke with tradition this year by abandoning its trusted formula of nine months rehearsal. Instead we went for a Christmas audience and four months rehearsal.

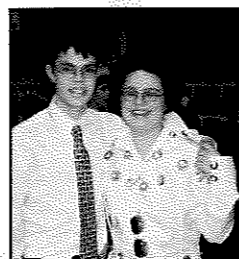

Penned by the 'intellectuals', Messers Mooney and Morrison, Cinderella and the Golden Guttie was our first stab at Pantomime. Auditions threw up a number of hardened old troupers and some bright new sparks.

With 55 cast and 32 technical crew drawn from the pupils, 20 members of staff, and help from numerous other staff, pupils and parents, the show took to the boards for three sell-out performances from December 18th.

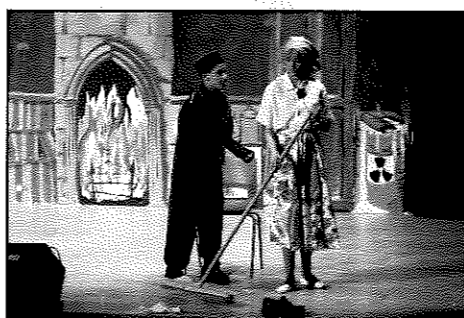

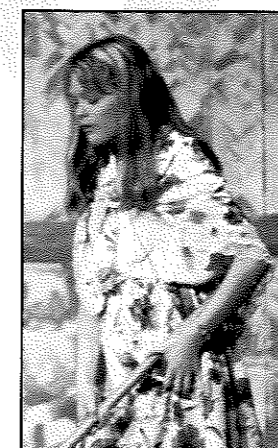

If you weren't there, you missed a dinky little soft-shoe shuffle from our very own lounge lizard Christopher 'Buttons' Bensalem; an ill-fitting guttie scene between our leads Pamela 'Prince Charming' Docherty and Ashleigh 'is she really only in First Year?' McCluskey as our heroine, Cinderella; lots of great dances and zippy tunes, and a special appearance by Elvis 'McPherson' Presley.

We got so fed up with Brian Cunningham this year we killed him off at the end of Act One, and even the talents of Lianna Clark (Fairy Godmother) couldn't revive him. This left the space clear for our evil family, the McDonalds - Gemma Skillin, Lee Devlin and Gemma Lavery - to try to take advantage of the poor and needy.

Happily, the Fairies got their Intermediate 2s, the police got their women, Father Stephen sang Winter Wonderland, and all was right with the world.

Football

Season 2000/2001

This year we ran boys teams at U12s, 13s, 14s, 15s, & 18s. For the girls we ran U14s & 18s.

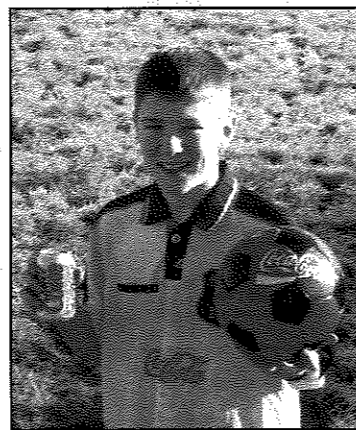

John Charles Hutchison represented Lanarkshire and Scotland at U 15s, while Darren Miller and John Hopkins featured in the Lanarkshire 18s.

The U 12s won the North Lanarkshire league and are now competing in the Lanarkshire super league, having already qualified for the semi-final of the Lanarkshire cup.

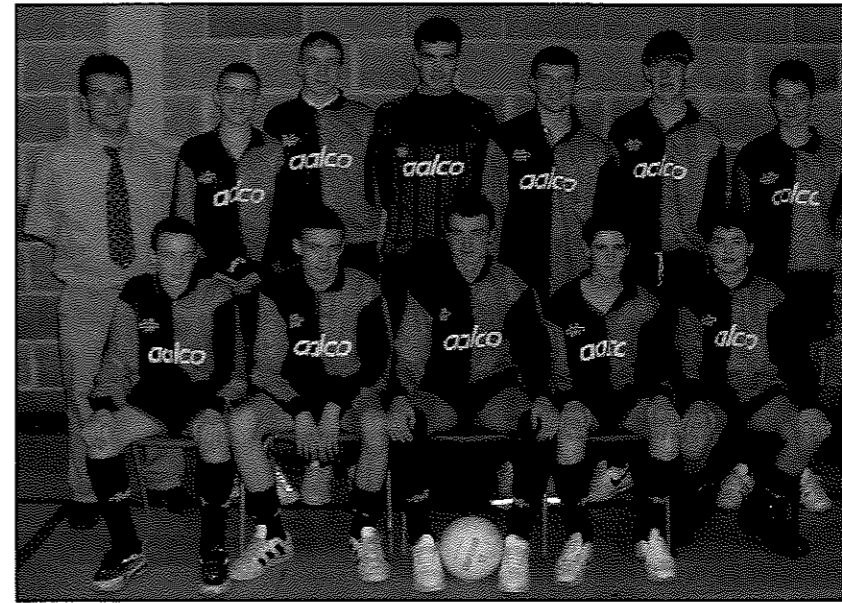

We have a few boys on the books of professional clubs : Stuart McTavish and Darren Docherty are at Livingston; John Hopkins is at Hibs; darren Miller is at Hamilton Accies; Chris Maguire is at Aberdeen and Gillian Ball is at Glasgow City.

Recently Craig Brownlie, the U 12s captain, represented the school as a ballboy at the Scotland-Belgium game.

Chaplain's Report

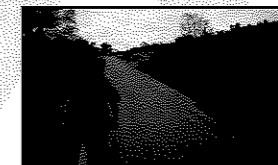

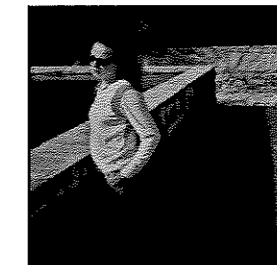

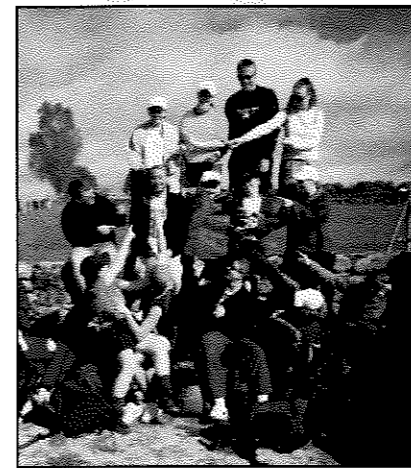

"So what do you actually do in the school?" is an oft-asked question. Well here goes...this year my duties have included : leading a conga (twice), running away from a bull (once), dressing up and leading a chorus of fairies (several times), practicing a song at a pub karaoke and winning, then missing a vital penalty kick.

However such tales from Christmas discos, Spanish walking trip, panto, charity talent show and Newman Cup staff-pupil football match don't tell the whole story (I wasn't dressed as a fairy myself, by the way, but a carol singer at the head of an elfin choir). I say mass as well. I do.

PILGRIMAGE WALK IN SPAIN

"Well I would walk one hundred miles,
And I would walk one hundred more,
Just to be that lassie one hundred miles
For a college in Equador."

This was to be a number one hit for the next two weeks as 12 pupils, 2 teachers and a chaplain made their way to Spain. I'm not talking cocktails and sand beneath your feet; I'm talking mist and rain and blisters as we marched down the Camino de Santiago, Europe's oldest Pilgrimage walk!

Chased by dogs and cows, it was an adventure that we will never forget.

Newman day trophy

Newman day trophy

To celebrate Newman Day, teachers fancied their chances in a pupils v teachers football match. The pupils dominated the full game and as the old yins tired Miller apparently nutmegged Snee. Though if the truth be told Miller was more concerned that Mr 'jaws' McIntyre would repeat his vicious leg-breaking tackle from a previous match.

The match seemed to trickle towards a boring no score draw, no thanks to the 'Jaun Sara' of the teachers side, (funny that Father Riley is into all that Jesus stuff as well!) Yep, the priest missed a penalty.

In the shoot out that followed only Mooney looked composed. The teachers resolve collapsed and the pupils lifted the trophy.

Heard the one about Jesus saves but Father Stephen scores the rebound? Naaaahh!

Health Day

On 20th June 2000, the new 2nd year at CNHS had a healthday. We were off normal timetable so that we could take part in some of the activities on offer that day. Second year were split up into approx. 20 different groups - each group followed a timetable of activities for the day.

The day started off with everyone doing an aerobics session, which was led by Mrs. Banks. After that all the different groups attended a range of activities which included: first aid, drugs awareness, chiropody, and personal fitness. Of the activities I attended I found first aid helpful as I learned how to help someone in an emergency. I also enjoyed personal fitness as you were given different activities to measure your own level of fitness.

I really enjoyed the Healthday and I thought it was very helpful to learn a little about many different aspects of health. I am sure the new 2nd year this year will enjoy health-day as much as we did. Veronica Mallon.

Blind Date

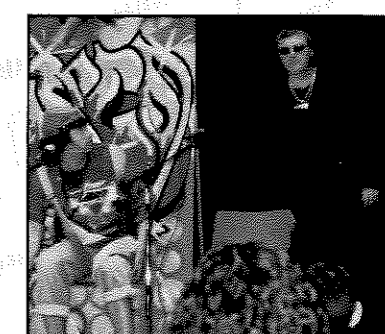

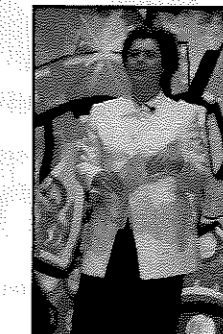

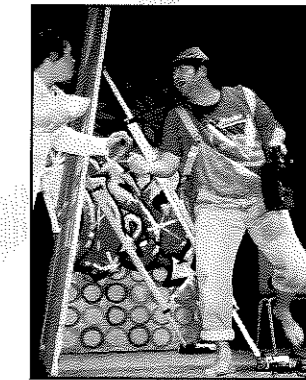

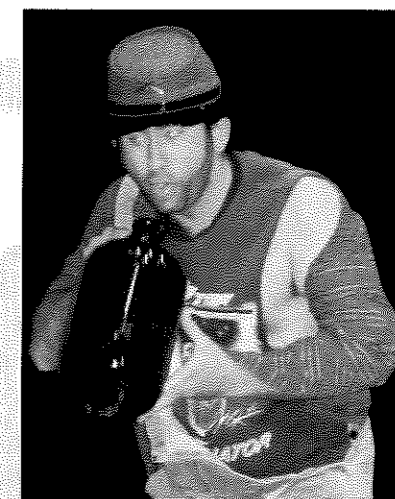

It was that time of year again in North Lanarkshire. What, with the foot and mouth outbreak, certain individuals had to leave the wildlife alone and concentrate on finding themselves the ideal partner! (Poor old Billy-Bob, he thinks that Swine fever is an old Elvis record. Well he does like his piggie wiggies!)

Anyway, the pupils brought some much needed class and respectability to the proceedings. The girls looked stunning, and really managed to stay positive, even when word leaked out that the mystery picker was Brian. The two Gemma's came up with spot on answers and Pamela seemed a natural as the airhead -ouch!

Then it was on to the staff, who did not disappoint. Mr. Greer relied on his method acting skills, Mr. Russell dug deep into that English heart of his, while Mr. Morrison geared himself up for the Spanish trip in October. Miss O'Connell put her entire soul into the questions and indeed on the line when she plumped for 'arry 'arris.

The Essential Survival Guide

- Teri Power - Polo mints, thermal gloves, spare toilet paper and you'll be sorted
- Simon Smith - mobile phone
- Paula Neil - Chicken noodle soup on a cold winter's day, providing it is hot! (The soup, that is)
- Siobhan Boyle - If you are pleasant and respectful of other people despite their differences, you too will eventually be accepted and respected for who you are. Keep in mind what you are aiming for and your hard work will pay off in the end.
- PJ Donnelly - When you arrive in First Year, give Hoppy a phone.
Nicola Young - Don't try to be like anyone else, be an individual, or just be a sheep.
- Nicola MacDonald - Go! Go! GO! Work! Work! Work!
Michelle McMillan - Remember the staff room is on the first floor!
- Brian Cassidy - Supersize Dougie!!!
Chris Doherty - Beware of Quasimodo who lurks in the First Year bogs.
Colin Smith - Stay away from the devants.
- David Dornan - Beware of the beast from Coconut Island!
Gerald Forry - a life time supply of Brylcream and hang onto your ego!
- Gavin Bradley - Never eat the yellow snow and never pee into the wind.
Emma McGeary - Blue extra! Oh and Faces!!!
David Poutney - Just say "I've got pictures of you!"
- John Henry- A sense of direction, both literal and metaphorical.
Garry Higgins - Stick in at your work and always do your best at whatever you try!
- James McCole - Beware of The Cheeks!!!
James Wharrie - Avoid Supersize Dougie!!!
- John McCole - A sense of humour is essential !!!
- Joanne Kelly - My Kit-Kat chunky after a strenuous double period of P.E. on a wednesday afternoon.
- Lynn Falls - Remember duvet days !!
Lianna Clark - Don't let the man get ya down!!!

Teacher's Fizzers

London 2001

February in Cardinal Newman can only mean one thing. Could the pupils of 2001 better the millennium trip of last year? No problemo!

We met at the school late on thursday for the overnight journey to London. Jordan brought Anthony (same old jokes). The video played 'friends' till 3.00 am when the bus settled down for some SLEEP. No chance!

We arrived at the Columbia Hotel, opposite Kensington Palace, at around 9.00 am. We would use The Tube to travel the length and breadth of London. "You mean the train goes underground!?" said Sean H. Mind the gap! We joined a cruise at Tower Pier and travelled to Westminster Bridge. "Really freezing" said Natalie, or at least that's what I think she said. It was then time for lunch at The Rainforest Cafe in Picadilly Circus. Cool mists rising slowly from cascading waterfalls. Trumpeting elephants, lifelike gorillas... an entire jungle of animated wildlife. Pupils felt at home almost immediately. Most of the boys soon blended into the jungle background of the Cafe. Tourists began to feed most of them with bananas and other fruit. Greg and Michelle ate the lot. That evening we flew on the 'London Eye' and visited the IMAX Cinema where some people had the sleep of a lifetime. 'Charlie' would still be on 'The Eye' if it wasn't for Mr Mooney's push.

The next morning came so soon. It was off to Madame Tussaud's Wax Works. The afternoon was spent on the King's road and in Harrod's. Still no presents for Doctor O'keane. We would get him something from the London Dungeon.

Saturday evening means the West End Musical. The girls and boys of CNHS looked fantastic and turned a few heads as we walked through London's Theatre-land. We did have Mel Gibson (Mr Greer) and James Bond (James Wilson) with us. 'Blood brothers' had nothing to do with the Bradshaw Boys. It would be the highlight of the trip. The group were totally captivated, entertained and emotionally drained. Not a dry eye in the house. Some of the girls were still upset the next morning.

London 2001

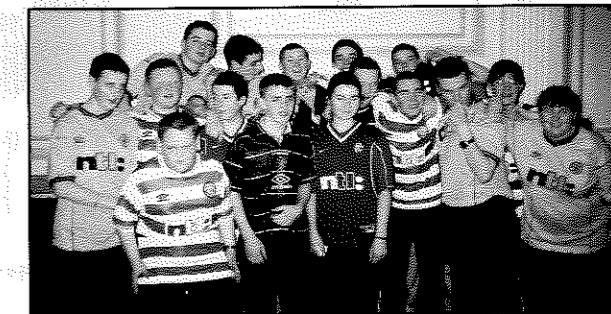

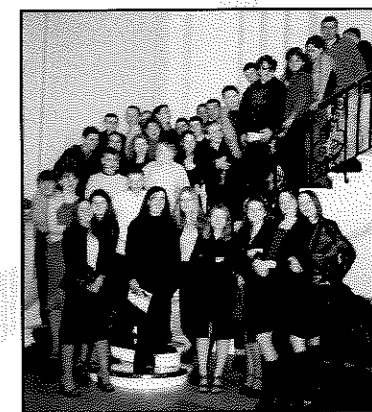

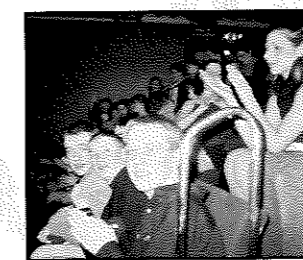

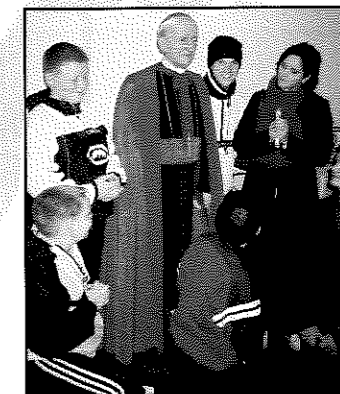

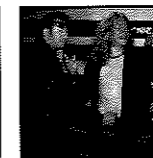

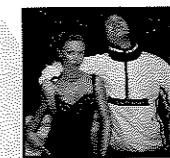

Sunday morning means Mass and a trip to Covent Garden. Johann still missing that special someone. This year we also took a visit to the Rock Circus. Rock stars, pop groups, boy bands and models- that was just CNHS pupils and staff. Miss McLeod and Miss O'Connell had to be dragged from the Robbie Williams experience. Never again you two. The evening was spent in the company of our tour guide. We finished off the night with supper at a Pizza Place and MacDonalds.

Carla (London three in a row) Gunn and Harry went for a meal in China Town in the company of Miss McLeod. We will miss you next year Carla!

Our final day was spent visiting the horrors of the London Dungeon. A bit like 'Faces' after the fire. Mark was accused of all sorts of things, too dodgy to mention here. I think the judge was right. Pupils cried, screamed and held onto each other as Mr Sneek took off his sunglasses for the first time. What a shock!

The return to Scotland included highlights such as photographing the sleepers and partying from the M1 to the M74.

This was one of the best groups to date. The pupils were a credit to themselves, the staff and the school. Next years pupils have a lot to live up to. No problemo!

A Final Word

Well it is nearly time to close this Yearbook. It has been a struggle at times. What with technological hitches and Mr. Greer having us in stitches. Mr. Mooney in the background muttering- "seriously this has to be finished yesterday!" Sure it may have taken the scenic route to completion but the journey is over. What a trip! As Sixth years we would like to thank both Mooney and Greer for their help, patience and expertise. Huh! When things got tough they were there, singing songs and telling jokes and just being the great guys that they are. We don't want to sound like a bunch of sycophants but we can't help it- great guys, great guys!

We would also like to take the opportunity to thank all of our teachers on behalf of Sixth Year. Thank you for all the support and care you have shown us over the last six years. CNHS does make a difference.

Cheers!

It seems appropriate to finish this Yearbook with a small tribute to Mr. Wyper. What can we say? He came, he saw, he conquered and then he came back again. Seriously though, we as Sixth Year would like to thank Mr Wyper on behalf of the whole school community, past and present. Thanks Mr Wyper! You made a difference and always in a positive way. All the best in your retirement.
